EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

CLEVELAND is now a New York lawyer.

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S first appointment of a Pennsylvania postmaster, was that of Cornelius Smith, at Annville Pa.

DANIEL LAMONT, Cleveland's former private secretary, has become president of some company organized for business purposes.

SIX thousand victims a year is the record of the car coupler. About the only thing going that the car coupler now in use should be coupled with is the deadly car stove.

MARCH so far verifies William Cullen Bryant's poetical picture:

"The stormy month of March has come at last,
With winds and clouds and changing skies;
I hear the rushing of the blast
That through the snowy valley flies."

THE worst thing about the last rumor from Samoa, is the excuse it gives to the "illustrated" daily press to inflict once more upon a longsuffering public execrable pictures of Malietoa and Tamasese.

MR. WANAMAKER superintended Bethany Sabbath school, in Philadelphia, as usual last Sunday. He spent a quarter of an hour conversing with two little girls who were strangers in the Sunday school.

A SINGULAR thing about the last elopement of a white girl with a negro coachman—from Reading this time—is that the girl is not described as "a belle." The correspondent says she is pretty, though.

DEMOCRATS who last year said thousands of times to Republicans "You'll never have another Republican President" are tenderly reminded that Benjamin Harrison is President and that he is a Republican.

NOW comes the story that Miss Knox, the Pittsburg girl who married the bogus Italian Count, has secured a divorce from the scamp in the Courts of Italy. When will American heiresses learn to look at home for worthy husbands?

WILLIAMSPORT is dreadfully stuck-up because she had so many Courts in operation last week and the presence of five Common Pleas judges at the same time. This implies awful wickedness in that Lumber City, but then some people will take pride in very peculiar things.

ON Friday Gov. Beaver gave his signature to an act "to prevent persons from unlawfully using or wearing the insignia or rosette of the military order of the Loyal Legion of the United States, the badge or button of the Grand Army of the Republic, or the badge or shield of the Union Veteran Legion."

IT is no wonder that the dogs and cattle of Wetzel county, West Virginia, have gone mad. The wonder is that there is a sane creature in the State after the reprehensible conduct of the Governor and the Legislature, which has inflicted upon the people four Democratic Congressmen and three Governors.

IT does not look as if the rush of office seekers at Washington is giving much annoyance to General Harrison He is not likely to lose his temper or his sleep over it. He has had too much experience in public life to allow such things to disturb him. In the meantime he keeps his own counsel as shrewdly as he did at Indianapolis.

THE building of fires in the streets in cold weather for the purpose of thawing the ground when excavations are to be made, has its drawbacks. The Mayor of New York holds that these fires injure and disintegrate the granite, producing ruts and depressions in the pavements, and he announces that no further permits for such fires will be issued.

FEW public men live to the venerable age reached by the Hon. Simon Cameron, and still fewer make better use of their time than he has done. He has reached a full score beyond the scriptural allotment, and every year of his mature life has been filled with good works. We join with his friends in wishing that he may be spared to round out a full century.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CABINET.

Of the gentlemen composing the new cabinet but two have national reputasions—James G. Blaine, secretary of state, and William Windom, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Blaine is so well know that it is scarcely necessary to recall the main facts in his life. Born in Washington county, Pennsylvania, January 31, 1830, he went to Maine while yet young and began his public life as a member of the legislature of that state in 1858. He entered congress in 1862 and served a number of years, a part of the time as speaker. He was elected to the United States senate in 1869 and was secretary of state under Garfield in 1881. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the presidenc yin 1884 and has since been in private life. He is unquestionably the foremost republican, the great body of the party regarding him with great appreciation. There is a strong minority, however, who love him not and who regard his appointment with displeasure.

William Windom, secretary of th treasury, is a native of Ohio, born in 1827. He has been a resident of Minnesota since 1855. He was a member of the national house of representatives from 1858 to 1868 and a United State senator from 1870 until 1881, when he was appointed secretary of the treasury under the Garfield administration, holding the position for about six months. His appointment will please the west which has long been impatient of the control exercisd by New York over our financial policy.

Redfield Proctor, of Vermont, secretary of war, has been governor of his state, and was chairman of the Vermont delegation to the Chicago convention. His name has not been a familiar one to his countrymen and his future service must determine his ability.

William Henry Harrison Miller, attorney general, was born in Ohio forty-eight years ago, and has been the law partner of President Harrison for the last fifteen years. We do not hear that he has ever been especially prominent and his appointment is evidently due to General Harrison's knowledge of his ability and to his desire to have as the law officer of the government one whom he knows and in whom he can have entire confidence.

John Wanamaker, of Pennsylvania, postmaster general, is known to everybody in this state and to many elsewhere, as the most successful retail merchant in the country. He began with nothing and has built up an immense business. He possesses large executive ability and will undoubtedly find a field for its vigorous exercises in our present demoralized postal service.

Benjamin F. Tracey, of New York, secretary of the navy, is a native of that state, 59 years old. He has been district attorney of Tioga county and United States district attorney for the eastern district of New York. He raised two regiments for the union service during the war and rose to the rank of brigadier general. If he makes as efficient a secretary of the navy as his immediate predecessor he will win the approval of the country.

John W. Noble, of Missouri, secretary of the interior, is a native of Ohio, born in 1831. He was a classmate of President Harrison at Miami university. He was a union solder and was mustered out in 1865 as a brigadier general. Was United States district attorney for Missouri under President Johnson, but resigned in 1870. We believe he never held any other office but the future is before him.

The new secretary of agriculture, Jeremiah Rusk, of Wisconsin, is also an Ohio man, having been born in that state in 1830, but has been a resident of Wisconsin since 1853. He was a brigadier general in the union service; was state bank controller from 1866 to 1870; a member of the congress for six years, and governor of Wisconsin for three terms. His vigorous action in crushing the anarchist uprising in Milwaukee about the time of the murder of the Chicago policemen, gave him a national reputation. Just what his agricultural knowledge is we do not know.

The fact that the president has chosen but few men who have a reputation for brilliancy to be among his constitutional advisers is no evidence that they are not able men. What is needed in a cabinet officer is a genius for organization and a capacity for hard work. Mr. Wanamaker we know to be a man of that sort, and we are disposed to believe that his colleagues are like unto him.

EARTHQUAKE shocks were felt in many parts of the State on Friday.

THE CAUSE OF BUSINESS FAILURES.

The evils which we predicted would follow a Democratic administration came all too truly and forcibly. Almost, indeed, before the administration was ended these evils came thick and fast, and we are now reaping the result of Democratic folly.

The four years of Democratic rule have not been as prosperous as they should have been considering that all the circumstances combined to accomplish good. The harvests were never more plentiful. But we now have workshops in every direction closing and men being thrown out of employment.

True, it is not so bad as it would have been had the Democratic efforts to reduce the tariff not been opposed by the Republicans and a few members of the Democratic party. They were not able to do anything, though they threatened much; they were foiled whenever they tried to carry out a ruinous policy.

But nevertheless the agitation caused by their efforts seriously injured trade and to this is attributed the business failures which are now so frequent. It will require a year to recover from this depression.

There should, too, be immediate efforts to undo the bad tariff legislation of 1883. Not since then has there been such prosperity as there was before that year. The tariff on iron and hundreds of their articles should be increased. Every other which can be brought here in competition with American manufactures should be tariffed to an extent to destroy all real competion

Do this, and we will give you our pledge that wages and values will increase; that white-winged prosperity will diffuse its benediction over this whole land; that happiness will become more universal.

An aid to this result will also be more stringent and better enforced laws against the importation of foreign pauper laborers. The working men of this country who deserve your aid, cry out for this. The ignorant and unambitious foreigners must be kept away. Those who will not become citizens should be prevented from coming here at all. They must not change our land of free and brave people into a land of slaves.

The case is important, the urgency is real. A serious and flagrant crime is being committed whenever an imported and designing foreigner is permitted to land. Govern the admission of all foreigners by rule. When they land and before they work make them take the oath of allegiance to America. Compell them to become citizens.

The way to bring about prosperity is plain. It is know by politicins, but for some reason they do not care to work very earnestly for it. Then let laboring men, farmers, literary and professional men—all good citizens—see to it that they are represented in legislative halls by men who are anxious to accomplish public good.

MADAGASCAR and United States of Columbia are the latest national small fry to treat Uncle Samuel with contumely. United States Consul Campbell complains of lack of courtesy towards him on the part of the Malagassy Minister of Foreign Affairs. He says the British Consul, Pickeregill, is pushing the interests of his country in an aggressive manner and incurring the enmity of the Consuls of other powers. He finally says that greater pressure will be needed to enforce the claims of the United States under the treaty of last August, as otherwise the Malagassy Government will resort to equivocation and delay. He therefore suggests that a ship of war be sent at the first opportunity, "in order to show this Government that we mean that our claims upon it must be settled, and also to visit the West coast and see what can be done in the Grovie and Smith case." It is time for the amusement of bullying the United States to cease.

DURING the closing days of last week license money flowed into the county treasury of Luzerne, at Wilkesbarre, in a constant stream, the receipts on Friday being over $40,000. The city of Wilkesbarre will be entitled to about $25,000 as her share of the money derived from licenses. The total sum paid for licenses in the county will exceed $400,000. Luzerne is a very wet county.

IN the disputed West Virginia Governorship case, the Republican position is without doubt the right one. That position is that there is no wrong without a remedy, that the people have elected Goff and the certificates were sent up to show it, and if the Legislature did not do its duty the Court must see that justice is done.

CLEVELAND HAD NOT A MAJORITY.

The Toledo Blade thus replies to a statement contained in a letter received by it. It says:

There is one statement in it which needs correction. The writer refers to Mr. Cleveland "as a man whom the people have twice chosen, by a popular majority, to be their chief ruler."

It probably will surprise our friend to know that Mr. Cleveland did not receive a majority of the popular vote either in 1884 or 1888. No candidate can have a majority unless he shall have more than half. The word "majority" means "the greater portion;" and as applied to a vote when there are more than two candidates, it always means more than half of the total vote cast for all the candidates. In 1884 the vote stood:

Cleveland, Dem.	4,911,017
Blaine, Rep.	4,848,334
St. John, Proh.	151,809
Butler, Gbk.	133,825
Scattering.	11,362
Total vote.	10,056,347

The lowest possible majority of this is one more than half, or 5,028,174 votes. Mr. Cleveland failed to get that by over 117,000 votes.

In 1888, the popular vote for President was:

Cleveland, Dem.	5,538,045
Harrison, Rep.	5,430,607
Fisk, Proh.	257,243
Labor candidates.	144,623
Total popular vote.	11,340,518

The lowest possible vote that would be a majority here would be 5,670,250. Mr. Cleveland did not reach that by over 132,000 votes. Hence, both in 1884 and 1888, he received a minority of the popular vote.

But there is more to be considered in this, if our correspondent is a man of such punctilious scruples as his letter implies. It is a fact admitted by Democratic leaders, such as Henry Watterson, Senator Morgan, and many others, that the colored vote of the Southern states is suppressed. We know the Northern Democrats are silent on this point, and the hypocritical mugwumps ignore it. The six states of the "black belt" are given in the following table, with the total number of white and colored voters in each, and the Republican and Democratic vote as returned at the Presidential election of 1888:

	White Voters.	Colored Voters.	Dem. Voters.	Rep. Voters.
Alabama	141,461	118,423	117,320	87,197
Florida	84,210	27,489	39,561	26,557
Georgia	177,967	148,471	100,449	40,446
Louisiana	108,816	105,977	85,362	30,701
Mississippi	108,284	130,278	85,471	30,996
S. Carolina	86,990	118,886	68,825	18,736
Total	657,608	946,524	496,658	178,833

Here is the total number of voters in these six states in tabulated form:

Total number of colored voters	946,524
Total number of white voters	657,608
Majority of colored voters	288,916

Contrast this with the vote as it now appears on the returns from these terrorized states:

Total Democratic vote	496,658
Total Republican vote	178,833
Democratic majority	317,825

Out of a total of 657,608 white votes, 496,658, which is 66 per cent of the whole, were cast and counted. Out of the 946,524 colored voters, but 178,833 or less than 18 per cent were permitted to vote the Republican ticket. This proceeds upon the assumption that the White vote is very largely Democratic, and the colored vote pratically solidly Republican—a condition acknowledged by Southern Democrats. To the figures in these six states must be added the frauds in Virginia by which its vote was carried for Cleveland, and those in West Virginia. There is not the smallest doubt in the mind of any honest man, Republican or Democrat, but that had there been as honest a vote and as fair a count in the South as there was in the North in 1884 and 1888, the Republican ticket would in each case have had a heavy majority of the popular vote and a much larger electoral vote,

One thing more. Our correspondent probably has a "plurality" confused with a "majority." A candidate has a plurality when he has more votes than any other single candidate; he has a majority when he has more than half the votes cast for all the candidates. On the face of the returns, Cleveland had a plurality both in 1884 and 1888. But there is no argument in that nor would there be any argument in it had he obtained a majority on both occasions, because the national constitution does not contemplate the election of a President by the people. He is elected by the states, not by the plurality vote nor a majority vote. Very few of our Presidents had a majority vote and not all of them a plurality. There was no record of the popular vote before 1824, in which year there was no choice by the electors and the House of Representatives chose John Quincy Adams. Jackson received a majority of the popular vote in 1828 and 1832; Van Buren in 1836; Harrison in 1840. In 1844 Polk received a plurality but not a majority. Taylor the same in 1848. Pierce had a majority in 1852. Buchanan received only a plurality in 1856. Lincoln had a plurality in 1860 and a majority in 1864. Grant had a majority in 1868 and a plurality in 1882. Tilden, though not elected, had a plurality of the popular vote in 1876, but not a majority. Garfield had a plurality in 1880.

The plea of the Democrats that Cleveland had a majority, which is steadily going the rounds, is a lying one and should be shown up for what it really is.

Inaugural Travel on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

When in 1885 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company successfully carried into and returned from Washington the vast host of inaugural pilgrims, it was considered that the perfection of railroad management, in promptly and effectively moving enormous numbers of people within a given space of time, had been reached. But notwithstanding this extraordinary record the achievement of this company on the inaugural occasion just passed surpasses all previous accomplishments in this direction. The company was prepared to do much more than it did, and had not the unusual inclemency of the weather intervened the total result would have been far greater.

One hundred and five thousand excursionists, including the public, the organizations, and the military, were delivered in Washington before noon of March 4th, and all, except the clubs and the military, were landed at the Baltimore and Potomac Station. For the conveyance of this number it required two hundred and ten trains of ten cars each, with an average of fifty persons to each car. All the trains were run in sections, and in many cases the number of sections to a given train reached ten. This involved a continuous stream of crowded cars entering the station at intervals of a few minutes, discharging their passengers, and being shifted out to make room for the incoming current. All these trains were moved promptly, and no accident of any character occurred to mar the success of the work. No unavoidable delay was experienced, but under the strict rules governing the operators of the block system, there were, perhaps, here and there delays which safety necessitated, on a line of track filled to repletion with long trains of crowded cars.

IT is reported that General Tracy, the new Secretary of the Navy, will subject the Yorktown to the same severe tests that Secretary Whitney four years ago applied to the vessels that had been contracted for by his predecessor, Secretary Chandler. This is entirely right. The standard of efficiency which the Government should establish in the naval service—and for that matter in all other branches of its service—should be as high as possible. The Yorktown ought to be made to come up to the severest tests that the contract for her construction will justify, provided, of course, they are not unjust or unreasonable. There is no reason to believe that her builders will not gladly welcome the trials which Secretary Tracy may make, and that they will not bring the Yorktown out of them all with credit to her and to themselves.

ALTHOUH fifteen years have passed since the public building in Pittsburg was commenced, the roof was only completed a few days ago. And the announcement that it will be ready for occupancy by the 1st of June is so startling that denizens of the city scarcely know what to make of it. The Dispatch is dumbfounded and wildly exclaims: "Such reckless haste is contrary to all Government precedent."

ANOTHER young man ambitious of oratorical distinction has come to disaster. He drew liberally on Guizot's "History of Civilization" in making up a speech to be used in a collegiate Inter-State oratorical contest out West, and won the first prize therewith. Now an Ohio college paper prints the dead ly parallel columns on him, and his latter state is worse than his first.

GENERAL NOTES.

Jefferson county, Ala., is pestered with rabbits.

Turkey quills constitute a profitable Southern export.

Sportsmen in Florida complain of a scarcity of alligators.

Fifty colored men are studying for the priesthood in Rome.

Electric snow plows are to be used on the electric railway in Boston.

There is said to be sulpher enough in Lower California to supply the world.

The crown of Charles II., made in 1660, is the oldest existing in England.

Joseph Whitcher, a veteran hunter of Warren, N. H., has a record of 42 bears killed.

Captain R Ureck is the tallest man in Colorado. His height is 7 feet and 7 inches.

Some Japanese chestnut trees at Santa Rosa, Cal., yield enormous fruit. One dozen nuts weigh a pound.

A paper read before the Historical Society, of New York, states that there are 5,530 lawyers in New York.

It is said of a certain cranky clergyman in Ohio that he always has either a row or a revival in his church.

Andrew Cowenloch, a telegraph operator at Milburn, N. J., is dying after a week's suffering from hiccoughs.

A medical certificate for a Buffalo quack tells of a man being cured of rheumatism of 91 years standing.

In London the windows of private houses are washed by a limited liability company at the rate of 8 cents a day.

The combined Aster estate, real and personal, pays $500,000 into the New York City treasury every year for taxes.

It is said that this is the first winter for 30 years that teams have not crossed Sunapee Lake, New Hampshire, on the ice.

The Trinity Church property, New York, has an assessed valuation of $3,750,000. This property is exempt from taxes.

Fencing has become so popular among ladies upon the Continent that many convents include it in their curriculum.

An iron drawbridge at Bridgeport, Conn., will be turned by electricity, and is believen to be the first of its kind in the country.

Robert Winter, a young artist of San Francisco, lost his eyesight by looking with his naked eye at the eclipse on New Year's Day.

Fourteen hundred emigrants were landed in Castle Garden on Friday from three steamers, the largest number ever landed in one day.

Exhibitors' tickets of admission to the Paris Exposition will have their photograph affixed to the pasteboard to prevent transferring them.

The railings between the Cour de Carrousel and the courtyard of the Tuileries, in Paris, have been sold for 350 francs to Prince Stirbey.

A Kentucky woman laments the loss of a purse, a thief having carried it off, which she laid away 40 years ago to insure her a decent burial.

Frozen land turtles have been found in different parts of South Jersey. They were fooled by the open winter and did not burrow deep enough.

A ghost with the lock step is one of the rarities of spiritulism, but that is what "they say" has been heard near the old prison at Alton, Ill.

At Montreal, on Monday, Ralph H. Husson, of London, died ten minutes after wedding Mary Mulcahy. Pneumonia was the cause of his death.

A Poughkeepsie man had been placed under bonds to keep the peace. He drew a cigar lighter on a man, the article being mistaken for a revolver.

The Custer monument in Montana has been so greatly defaced by Indians shooting at it that it has been found necessary to recut the names on it.

Lucie Lefrance lived ten years next door to her sister in Montreal without knowing it, and then the pair became known to each other through their grocer.

One of the rules of the Royal Library in Berlin, made with a view to preserving quiet and good order, calls for the exclusion of all members of the gentler sex.

An 8-year-old lad, Richard Freeman, of St. Louis, while trying to see how long he could hold his breath, burst a blood vessel, and a few moments later died.

A Toledo woman, who has twice been divorced from the same man, married him two weeks ago for the third time, although she has been married six times to three men.

There is only one prisoner in the jail of Hughe county, Dakota, and he would be promptly released if it was not necessary to keep the insurance good by having somebody in the jail.

An Irishman named Casey died recently in Albuquerque very wealthy. By his will he left to General J A Williamson, of Iowa, nearly $500,000 for a favor to Casey long ago forgotten.

In an Iowa murder case two witnesses swore to seeing the defendant 40 rods off draw his revolver, when it was proven that they were so near-sighted that they could not tell a pistol from a bull pup 15 yards away.

Poetry.

THE HOOSIER GRANDAD.

Come here, you little rascal, while I make this shiugle hum
Across your little britches, for beatin' on that drum.
You know the campaign's over an' we have won the battle,
So put away the noisy horn an' stop your tarnal rattle.
An' don't call me a Hoosier, or you'll find out what I am,
When this paddle comes agin you jist like a batterin' ram.
Gineral Harrison is a Hoosier, eh? you want me to let you go?
But you've got to take a lickin'—but hold, by Jingo, that's so;
There's Hovey, Chase, and t'other boys, that wore the blue,
An' they were all my comrades, so I'm a Hoosier too.

I am glad you changed your tactics, an' sent up a flag of truce,
I tho't it was only strategy to make me let you loose.
When they used to call me Hoosier, it made me fightin' mad,
But since the 'lection's over, it doesn't sound so bad
For ever since the telegraph told how the state had went—
t makes a heap 'o difference to have a President,
So go on with your tootin' an' keep bangin' on the drum.
Shake everything that rattles, an' make all creation hum.
Hoosier didn't hurt the gineral or his grandad "Tippecanoe."
An' it won't hurt your old grandad to be a Hoosier too.

It was nigh two hundred thousand that Morton sent, to war
An' many of those Hoosier boys can show an ugly scar.
Besides her many other sons, have won an honored name,
An' by their gallant sword, or pen, have added to their fame.
So let them call us Hoosiers, they can't get up a fuss,
For we've got the President, that's good enough for us.
So go beat the drum, my boy, and beat it loud and long,
Blow your whistle "he's all right," an' sing a campaign song,
An' if anybody wants to know, tell them that it's true,
Your grandad is a Hoosier an' you're a Hoosier too.

SMALL SHOT.

He was a very courteous man,
With manners perfect quite;
No one was ever more urbane,
Or could be more polite.

To hear him murmur "Thank you, sir!"
Was really quite a treat;
To see him bow, with inborn grace,
Was happiness complete.

But, though a man be most polite,
Some time he's sure to slip
From grace, and once a cruel fate
Made even this one trip.

For one day a sweet girl said "Yes,"
(How strange are Cupid's pranks!)
And! then h lost her, once for all,
Because he murmured "Thanks!"

TWO VALENTINES.

Love, at your door young Cupid stands
And knocks for you to come;
The frost is in his feet and hands,
His lips with cold are numb.
Grant him admittance, sweetheart mine,
And by your cheering fire
His lips shall loosen as with wine
And speak forth my desire.

He left me not an hour ago,
And when the rascal went
Barefooted out into the snow
I asked him whither bent.
"Quoth he: 'To her whose face is like
A garden full of flowers,
To her whose smiles like sunlight strike
Across the winter hours.'"

No more he said, nor need of more
Had I to know. I knew
His path lay straight unto your door—
That face belongs to you.
"Godspeed," I cried, "and give her this
When you her face shall see;"
And on his lips I set a kiss,
A Valentine from me!

Our Story Teiler'

HARD TIMES.

'So he's gone at last, has he?' said my wife, with a little piquant elevation of her pretty brows. 'I began to think he was somehow gifted with immortality.

'Dead at last,' said I. 'And what do you think, Jenny. He has left us $100?'

'A hundred dollars?' echoed my wife, clasping her hands together. 'Oh, Charles! A hundred dollars!'

Now, all this may sound like a two-pence-half penny sort of affair to some of my readers, as I am very well aware. But as I am only a clerk on a salary of $900 a year, $100 drifting, as it were, out of the sky, seemed a very neat little sum to me.

Jenny and I were young people just beginning the world, with no particular riches, except one apple-cheeked baby. Jenny did her own work, made my shirts, and cut and fitted her own dresses. I walked to and from business every day to save 25 cents omnibus fare. We did our best to make both ends meet—and a tight pull we found it.

So you will easily see that this hundred dollar bill represented considerable more to us than its real face value. Old Uncle Moses Manson was mortally offended when his niece Jenny Clifford, chose to marry me instead of a wizened bespectacled, old contemporary of his own. He had never spoken to her since, and we naturally entertained no very exalted hopes of any testamentary recollections on his part. And the hundred dollar bill, therefore possessed the charm of an agreeable surprise into the bargain.

'Charles,' said Jenny, under her breath, 'what shall we do with it?'

'That is the question,' said I. 'Do you know, Jenny——'

I hesitated a little here.

'Ye?' she responded, interrogatively.

'Every fellow in the bank, except me, has a gold watch. I've been ashamed of this old silver concern more than once. And Seymore has a very nice second-hand one for sale that he will let me have for $90 if——'

'And turn the $100 into a mere useless ornament!' cried Jenny, with a strong accent of disapprobation in her voice. 'Charley, that isn't a bit like you.'

'Well, then, what do you suggest?'

'I should like to give a social party with it,' said Jenny coaxingly. 'Only think how often we've been invited out since we were married, and never have had a chance to return any of the hospitalities of our friends. The musicians, the supper and all, would come within a hundred dollars.

'And you are absurd enough to wish to eat, and drink and dance up a sum like that?' I cried. 'O, no, Jennette, it is out of the question.'

'A new velvet suit for the baby?' suggested Jenny, pouting a little at the emphasis of my words.

'How would it correspond with the rest of our surroundings?' I asked not without an accent of bitterness. You had a great deal better suggest a new winter suit and overcoat for me. You never seem to observe how shabby I am getting.

'Nobody notices gentleman's dress,' said Jenny. I can make your overcoat look very nice with fresh binding and new buttons—but how I should like a sealskin jacket.'

'Jenny,' said I, somewhat disgusted, 'I had no idea you could be so selfish.'

Jenny colored and turned her head.

'Selfish, indeed!' she cried. 'I would like to know whether you have yet suggested anything which was not for your own special benefit and use!'

We were both silent. I don't suppose either of us had felt so vindicative before, since our marriage. Clearly the hundred dollar bill had worked no great benefit as yet.

'I'll tell you what, Jenny,' said I, 'let's compromise. Let's buy a new sitting-room and stair carpet. I saw a beautiful pattern at Moody's yesterday—pearl gray, with a vine of scarlet moss all over it.'

'I don't care for new carpets as long as we live on a second floor,' said Jenny. 'And you don't seem to remember, Charles, that I haven't had a silk dress since we were married. Black silk is suitable for all occasions, from a wedding to a funeral, and I really think——'

'I believe a woman's thoughts are always running on dresses,' muttered I somewhat contemptously. I'm sure that black alpaca of yours is beautiful.'

'That's all you know about the matter,' said Jenny, elevating her nose. Well, I don't care. Spend the money as you choose. Only, Uncle Moses was my relation.'

'And the money was left to me, Mrs. Evarts,' said I.

Jenny looked at me with her eyes full of tears.

'Oh, Charles,' said she 'how can you, speak to me so?'

'Because I'm a brute, Jenny,' said I, fairly melted. 'Forgive me, and we'll fling the paltry old hundred dollar bill into the fire before we'll let it scatter the seeds of division between us.'

'No, Charles, don't do that,' said Jenny, laughing through her tears. 'Let's—put it in the savings bank.'

'Agreed,' said I, sealing the bargain with one of our old fashioned kisses. 'And apropos of savings banks, did I tell you about Greene?'

'N . What about Greene?'

'Why, he and his wife have just moved into the prettiest little gothic cottage you ever saw, just the other side of the Harlem bridge, with a lawn and a garden and space to keep a little Alderney cow.'

'Rented it!' 'No, bought it.'

'Why Charlie, how can that be? Greene has only two or three hundred a year more than you, and it takes money to buy places in the country.

'All savings banks, my dear,' said I. 'Greene tells me that he and his wife have been saving up for years, with special reference to his country home for their children, They commenced with a 50 cent piece.'

'We can do better than that!' said Jenny, with sparkling eyes. 'Please God, dear Charlie, our little fellow shall have a green and sunny place to play in before he is many years older! And I will do without the silk dress.'

'And I'll make the old overcoat last another season, at the very least,' I added.

'And we'll give up all such nonsense as new carpet——'

'And gold watches.'

'And foolish suppers and wines and everything else that isn't absolutely necessary,' added Jenny, comprehensively.

The next morning, bright and early, as soon as business hours would permit, I went and deposited the hundred dollars in the nearest savings bank.

A week afterwards Mr. Manyply dropped in, in a friendly way. Mr. Manyply is the lawyer who transacted Uncle Moses Manson's financial affairs—a plump, bald-headed, deep-voiced old gentleman, who always dresses in spotless black and wears a big steel-ring on the little finger of his left hand.

'So,' said Mr. Manyply, 'you've invested that hundred dollars, have you?'

'Yes,' said I, with the complacent air of one who has an account in bank. 'But how did you know it?'

'Oh, I know a good many things,' said Mr. Manyply, oracularly. 'But what's the idea of it?'

'Economy,' stuck in Jenny, proudly, 'We are saving now, Mr. Manyply. We mean to have a home for little Charley—a garden full of roses and pinks and strawberries—one of these days.'

'And a very laudable ambition,' said Mr. Manyply in that smooth, oily way of his 'How much would such a place cost now?'

'Charles thinks if we waited for a bargain we could secure it for about $7,000,' Jenny answered promptly.

'Buy it now, then,' said Mr. Manyply. 'Here's a check for $8,000.'

'Eh.' cried I, breathlessly.

'A check,' the old lawyer went on, 'signed by your Uncle Manson, payable to the order of his niece, Jane Anne Evarts. Ah! you may well look astonished. He was an eccentric old chap, this uncle of yours, Mrs. Evarts, and I have written instructions to keep an eye on the manner in which you invest that $100 bequest of his. 'If it is squandered in any foolish way,' he writes, there is an end of the matter. Put my money all in the Hospital for Hunchbacks. If they show any disposition to save help them with this check for $8,000, to be expended only in the purchase of real estate. My young friends, I congratulate you.'

And Mr. Manyply's spectacles beamed upon us like two full moons.

This is how we became possessed of our lovely country home, where Charley thrives like a growing flower and Jenny flits about in a broad brimmed gardening hat, trimming roses, pruning gooseberries, and planting lily-bulbs. And the $100 bill still lies untouched in the savings bank.

'It shall be Charley's fortune,' says my wife. 'It would be a shame to touch it after it has wrought us so much good.'

And I quite agree with her.

SHAD AND STRAWBERRIES.

Shad and strawberries are rare in March, but the two form a combination of eatables partaken of by many Philadelphia families. A leading dealer on Spruce street wharf sold no less than 500 of the shining, Southern shad Saturday.

"I have been in the fish business for forty years," said the dealer, "and I never knew shad to be so good and at the same time so reasonable at this time of the year. The shad, as a rule, come from Southern waters, although there have been a few—a very few—Delaware shad in the market. Hood roe shad today, for instance, sell from 50 to 75 cts. On the other hand, smaller shad can be purchased at from 30 to 50 cents.

The Delaware Avenue Market is within a stone's throw of where the shad is being sold. A dealer there quotes very tempting strawberries at 50 cents per quart. They looked as red and tasted as sweet as they usually do in the height of the season. "I have sold a great many to-day," remarked a portly looking commission merchant, "and I expect to dispose of twice as many Monday The supply is about equal to the demand. Most of the berries come from Norfolk, Va., and Savannah, Ga."

ABOUT DOGS.

It is estimated says an exchange, there are at the present moment 20,000,000 of dogs in the United States. A dog can hardly be boarded for less than three cents a day, which would run the keep of every dog to at least $10 per annum, or $200,000,000 for all the dogs in the land. What is worse, 19,000,000 of these dogs are useless, worse than useless, absolutely worthless. There is perhaps no more worthless luxury than a bad dog. The money required to feed these dogs would give 400,000 families $500 every year. Just imagine the money thrown away on this speechless whim. We are daily confronted with startling tables of figures, showing how much money is wasted on our luxuries, but where is it thrown away more recklessly than on dogs?

Gathered Pearls.

The present is a bright spot between the darkness of the future and the twilight of the past.

Happiness is often at our side, and we pass her by; misfortune is far off and we rush on to meet her.

If you would find a great many faults, be on the look out. If you would find them in still greater abundance, be on the look-in.

Strong in the goodness of his cause, with his back to the throne of God and his foot on the rock of truth, a man can stand against the world.

Nothing sharpens the arrow of sarcasm so keenly as the courtesy that polishes it, no reproach is like that we clothe with a smile and present with a bow.

The world usually pushes a man the way he has made up his mind to go. If going up, they push him up; if going down they push him down—gravitation however, making the speed greater on the decline.

To remove freckles, let young ladies bathe the face with cologne water after tea, and about 10 p. m. brush both cheeks, the forehead and chin with a carefully selected mousseone. If this does not remove the freckles it will, under ordinary circumstances, cause them to be forgotten.

The Bulldog Æsthetically Considered.

From the New York Tribune.

As regards the beauty of the bulldog, it doubtless depends much on circumstances. Viewed in a bench show, the dog being closely connected with the bench by a stout chain, he is not wanting in the elements of beauty, though his forehead is low and the cast of his countenance gloomy. Looked upon, however, when he is on his own front steps, and a stranger is approaching, and the dog's lower eyelids droop slightly, while he takes short steps with his forward feet and there is a nervous twitch about his upper lip as he puts out his lower jaw inquiringly, he is not so beautiful—to the stranger—though, if the unknown gentleman be a tramp, it is altogether possible that the dog may never find greater favor in the eyes of his owner. Men who have mistaken a healthy bulldog while sitting on his porch at the side of the steps, for a stone dog reared by the hand of man, and attempted to remove their goloshes by hooking the heels of them on the supposed marble tail of the dog, have been heard to say a great many years after that they regretted their error. It is with his face alone that the bulldog appeals to his admirers; his outlines, like those of the hairless, being only ordinary. In his decidedly couchant nose and extremely rampant lower jaw lies his beauty. Though the bulldog's profile frequently somewhat resembles that of the man who has won success in upholding the noble traditions of the British prize-ring, this should not be allowed to count against the dog.

Old Sayings and Their Authors.

From Bacon comes "knowledge is power."

Politics and the Bible.

A Sunday school was opened just four years ago in a new Western town where the boys knew rather more about politics than the Bible. It was after the presidential election of 1884.

The Sunday-school teacher gave each of the boys a few verses from the Bible to learn by heart during the week. One Sunday she told one of the boys to take a certain chapter of St. John.

"I won't do it," said the youth angrily.

Why not?" asked the surprised teacher.

"That's the feller that beat Blaine. I won't have antyhing to do with him," retorted the lad who was a good Republican.

A Successful Affair.—Wife (to her husband, a physician)—"Did you stop at the vancouver ball to-night, William?" Physician—"For a few minutes, my dear." Wife—"Did it seem to be a successful affair?" Physician—"Oh yes; while I was there a young lady fell in a fainting condition, and I prescribed for her. Here is her father's card."

"I am a Democrat!" cries David Bennett Hill. "I am an intense Democrat!" declares Grover Cleveland. Do you see any significance in this regarding 1892?

The treatment of many thousands of cases of those chronic weaknesses and distressing ailments peculiar to females, at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has afforded a vast experience in nicely adapting and thoroughly testing remedies for the cure of woman's peculiar maladies.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the outgrowth, or result, of this great and valuable experience. Thousands of testimonials, received from patients and from physicians who have tested it in the more aggravated and obstinate cases which had baffled their skill, prove it to be the most wonderful remedy ever devised for the relief and cure of suffering women. It is not recommended as a "cure-all," but as a most perfect Specific for woman's peculiar ailments.

WARRANTED. "Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or the money paid for it will be refunded.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, it imparts strength to the whole system, and to the womb and its appendages in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, exhaustion, prostration, hysteria, spasms and other distressing, nervous symptoms, commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womb. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a legitimate medicine, carefully compounded by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate organization. It is purely vegetable in its composition and perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the system. For morning sickness, or nausea, from whatever cause arising, weak stomach, indigestion, dyspepsia and kindred symptoms, its use, in small doses, will prove very beneficial.

"Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions, prolapsus, or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness in ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

As a regulator and promoter of functional action, at that critical period of change from girlhood to womanhood, "Favorite Prescription" is a perfectly safe remedial agent, and can produce only good results. It is equally efficacious and valuable in its effects when taken for those disorders and derangements incident to that later and most critical period, known as "The Change of Life."

"Favorite Prescription," when taken in connection with the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and small laxative doses of Dr. Pierce's Purgative Pellets (Little Liver Pills), cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder diseases. Their combined use also removes blood taints, and abolishes cancerous and scrofulous humors from the system.

Eureka Coffee.

This well known beverage is an infusion of the roasted albumen of the coffee tree bill (Coffea Arabica), a native of Abyssinia and Arabia, but now naturalized in many of the tropical countries colonized by Europeans.

There are a number of species of coffee, but this one only is known to possess valuable properties. The seed of Coffee Mauritiana prepared in the same way are bitter and slightly emetic. The genus belongs to the natural order Cinchonaceæ, It has a tubular 4-5-cleft corrola and a succulent fruit containing two cells, lined with a cartilaginous membrane, and each containing one seed. In a wild state the coffee tree is a slender tree fifteen to twenty-five feet high, with few branches. In cultivation it is seldom allowed to become more than from 6 to 10 feet high, and is made to assume a sort of the form of a pyramid with horizontal branches almost from the ground. The leaves are evergreen, very shining, oblong, and leathery. The flowers are small, clustered in the axils of the leaves, snow white; the whole appearance of the tree is very pleasing, and the smell of the flower is delicious. The fruit when ripe, is of a dark scarlet color, and the seeds are semi-eliptic and of a horny hardness, The seeds are commonly termed coffee beans, not however because they resemble in any respect the common bean, but from the Arabic word bunn. They are sometimes, but very incorrectly, designated coffee berries, The coffee succeeds only in countries where the average temperature ranges from 64 to 70 degrees F. In Peru and Quito it is acclimatized at an elevation of 6000 feet, where however, frost never occurs; but as it delights in a moist atmosphere, it nowhere thrives better than in tropical islands. Where the climate is dry abundant irrigation is necessary, but the supply of water is cut off as the fruit begins to ripen, in order to the improvement of its quality. The tree yields its first crop in the third year; the crop from a full grown tree may amount to a quart of coffee beans. As the coffee tree continues flowering for eight months its fruits are at any time of very uneven ripeness; in the West Indies, Brazil, and other places of same climatic conditions, there are three gatherings yearly. As equal care is not bestowed upon the preparation of it in all places, where it is cultivated, there are great differences in quality and price. The earlier history of the coffee tree is not very clear. It was not known to the Greeks or Romans; but in Abysinia and Ethiopia it has been from time immemorial; and in Arabia it was certainly in use in the 15th century, and over the rest of the East in the 16th century. Toward the end of the 16th century it was carried from Mocha to Batavia by a Dutchman, where it was soon extensively planted; and at last young plants were sent to the gardens of Amsterdam from which the Paris garden obtained a tree, A slip was sent from this last to Martinique in 1720, where it succeeded so well that in a few years all the West Indies could be supplied with young trees; then from those to Mexico, Central America, and the islands of the Pacific. The following sorts are particularly distinguished from each other in commerce: Mocha which comes from Arabia, Java or East Indian, Jamaca, Surinam, Bourbon, Golden, Rio, from Brazil, etc.

The employment of coffee as a beverage was introduced from Arabia into Egypt and Constantinople in the 16th century.

In Arabia and the East, coffee is not prepared as a beverage in the same way as in Europe. A decoction of the unroasted seeds is there generally drank, and for Sultans coffee the pericarp with the dried pulp roasted is employed. The great demand for coffee has led to the employment of a number of cheaper substitutes, among which chicory root is the best known in this country. Others of Dandelion root, Carrot, and the seed of yellow Iris, may be mentioned they are prepared by roasting like coffee; but all these substitutes lack the true, constitutents of true coffees, caffeine and are therefore very different from it in their qualities.

In Sumatra the leaves of the coffee tree are used in place of the seeds. They are prepared by quick drying much as tea is cured, and in this state contains even a larger proportion of caffeine than the coffee seed itself. The use of this leaf may yet extend very much. We have however not received as yet a consignment of this leaf at the Eureka Grocery but we have the coffee bean of all kinds and degrees of excellence. We have a ground coffee (?) at 18 cents a pound. We do not claim that this is a pure article you cannot get a pure article at such a price now unless it would be of very poor quality or damaged in some way, but this is adulterated with some article as described above. We have also Arbuckles both red and black letter. The Edina, Bunola, Alaroma, roasted by a new patent process by "the Union Coffee Co. limited."

Willett's Favorite Coffee roasted and put up by Willett & Quimby. These are common grades. Of higher grades we have the best Java in the market, Mocha the very best, Old Mexican, Nicaragua all fine goods. A combination of some of these coffees make the finest flavored coffee in the world. In everything else as in coffee we aim to keep the very best goods in the market. We keep different qualities of course, but we sell all our goods for just what they are. If you want the best you can get it at the Eureka at as low a price as the same quality can be furnished by anyone and all goods guaranteed to be just as represented. Call and see us for anything you want in the Grocery line, no trouble to show our goods.

PROHIBITION IN KANSAS.

What a Former Resident of Lock Haven Has to say on the Subject.

The following letters explain themselves and will be read with interest:

MILL HALL, March 6, 1889.

MESSRS. KINSLOE BROS.: When I read in your paper, some two weeks ago an article named "Query of the Hour," which endeavored to prove that prohibition in Kansas did not prohibit and that there was about as much liquor sold in Kansas as ever by drug stores who carry $50 dollars worth of drugs and $500 worth of whisky, I knew it was false, for I know that in one town in Kansas at one time last year three of the druggists were in jail for violating the laws, and I have abundant evidence proving that the liquor laws of Kansas are not only the most stringent, but they are enforced. I sent your paper to Dr. H C Licheathaler asking his opinion. You have it below. Please print and oblige Yours truly,

T R MANN.

Thos. R. Mann, Esq: DEAR SIR:—Yours of the 22nd of February, in reference to the condition of prohibition in Kansas, and especially refering to an article in the EVENING EXPRESS entitled "Query of the Hour," and giving an interview "with a gentleman recently returned from Kansas," was duly received.

I find upon reading the article, quite a number of misstatements and inaccuracies, and the gentleman was evidently of a prejudiced mind, and his "return from Kansas" not of "recent date," but, judging by his statements, I feel fully satisfied that he has not seen Kansas soil for two years, and that his visit occurred prior to April, 1887.

In the first place, the phrase "drug store town" is obsolete, and the number of drug stores have been reduced to the legitimate needs of their several towns, by reason of the extremely stringent amendments to the prohibitory act, passed in 1887. Before this time the act was easily avoided, and "drug stores" were numerous, and out of all proportion to the requirements of the communities wherein they were located. At present, to be qualified to conduct a drug store, a person must first become a registered pharmacist, and is required to pass a strict examination in pharmacy, then if he wishes to sell liquors he must first publish in the county papers his intention of making application to the Probate Judge for such permit to sell, and his application must be signed by 'twenty-five (25) reputable free holders, having the qualifications of electors," and "twenty five reputable women over twenty-one years of age, of the ward wherein such business is located," and the petition must state that the person is of good moral character, does not use liquor himself, is a registered pharmacist, and is personally engaged in the business of selling drugs, and that he has a stock of drugs of not less than $1,000. He is also required to furnish proof of the above statements, and at the discretion of the Probate Judge, the permit may be granted, or it may not, so that the actual facts are materially different from the statement made in the interview that "Kansas drug stores consist of $50 worth of drugs, and $500 worth of whisky, and his remarks regarding billiard halls are equally untrue, and are very similar to numerous other Western stories told by enterprising Eastern travelers. If at any time a petition is presented to the Probate Judge, signed as before mentioned, stating that the person holding the permit is not conforming in good faith to the provisions of this act he shall lose his permit, and be fined from $500 to $1000, and I assure you that there are plenty of persons who would see that that this act is effectually carried out.

The person desiring to purchase liquors must first swear as to his residence, for whom the article was intended, that it is needed for medical use, and not to sell, give away or to be used as a beverage, and that the purchaser is over 21 years of age. It may also be used for mechanical or scientific purposes, but must first be sworn to that effect, as above, and any one making the oath is guilty of perjury should he use it for any other purpose than the one sworn to, and any one signing a false name to the oath, is guilty of forgery, and the records are open at all times to the public inspection. No physician's name is connected with the above in any manner whatever, nor can liquor be obtained upon a physician's prescription, without the oath being administered as above, and no druggist is permitted to sell even on the oath of the applicant, when he believes that it is to be used as a beverage, or when, in his opinion the liquor desired is unsuitable for the disease specified in the application. I may also add, that should the Probate Judge not perform his full duty in these matters, he is guilty of a misdemeanor, is fined from $500 to $1,000 and loses his office. I believe that you will agree with me, that the sale of intoxicating liquors is so effectually guarded in Kansas since the amendment came into effect that the violation of the prohibitory laws is one of the rarest occurrences in the State.

Under this last law, so-called "Drug Stores" have not found Kansas to be a healthy place to remain in, as too many of the proprietors found themselves in jail for from 30 to 90 days, and with fines and costs amounting to from $100 to 700.

In traveling over a considerable portion of the State last Fall I failed to find a town where drug stores were greater in number than necessary, nor to hear of a case where they were doing other than a strictly legitimate business. I do not remember of seeing an intoxicated man upon the streets of any of these towns, and in fact, an intoxicated man is the rarest sight in Kansas, and I may well say that crime due to intoxication is never heard of, and the criminal calendars of our course will show no such cases. I believe that the absence of intoxicating liquors in this State has made it pre-eminent for morality and industry, and has been the greatest factor in its prosperity, giving us an honest, sober and industrious population, full of energy, hopefulness and true grit, such as only can be found where vitality and manhood and womanhood are not continually lowered and sapped by indulgence in intoxicants, with all the consequences which that implies.

Pennsylvania cannot afford to defeat Prohibition. Yours sincerely,

H. C. LITCHENTHALER, M. D.

Hollow trees are always the stiffest, but the mightiest oak, if sound, can bend. The more exalted a man is by station the more powerful should he be by kindness. There is no policy like politeness, since a good manner often succeeds where the best tongue has failed. Politeness is most useful to inspire confidence in the timid and encourage the deserving.

We hear now much about circumstances making us what we are and destroying our responsibility—but however much the external circumstances in which we are placed, temptations to which we are exposed, the desires of our nature, may work upon us, all these influences have a limit, which they do not pass, and that is the limit laid upon them by the freedom of the will which is essential to human nature to our personality.

Successful Treatment of Disease

A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY!

MICROBES the Cause of all Diseases.

MICROBE KILLER Kills the Microbes.

Successful Treatment.

CURES: Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption, Malaria, Rheumatism.

Wonderful Tonic and Blood Purifier.

The efficacy of the Microbe Killer in cases of consumption has been so effectually demonstrated that we are justified in claiming for it curative powers beyond those of any medicine known. We do not claim for it miraculous power in curing cases so far gone that cure is impossible, but we do claim that it will cure any case where the lungs are not more than half gone. Persons with poor appetite, weak and debilitated, will find it the best tonic. Every one should use it, particularly those who have suffered for years with incurable chronic diseases. Microbes, or germs, are causes of disease. The medicine that will kill the germs and at the same time cure the patient is the one to use.

Sold only in one gallon stone jugs. Price $3.00, sufficient to last about one month. Cheap; within the reach of all. Physician of 17 years experience in charge of the office. Send for circular and information.

A BOY'S SCHEDULE.

How Freddy Arranged His Time so as to Save Two Hours Per Day.

My little nephew ran across a paragraph somewhere which said that anybody could save at least two hours of wasted time a day by running on a time-table.

Freddy brought the clipping to me and asked what it meant. I told him that I supposed it meant that a person could save two hours a day by having his work or amusement planned and arranged beforehand such and such a thing to be done at such a time, another thing following directly after, and so on.

Freddy seemed so much interested that I advised him to make out a time table for himself, and try running on it for a few days. He said he guessed he would, because two extra hours a day would be a great help to him in learning to strike out the fellows, and possibly would secure him the coveted position of pitcher in the school nine. The next day Freddy submitted the following time:

FREDDY'S TIME-TABLE.

A. M.

6.45 to 7—Gettin' up.
7 to 7.30—Bath and gettin' reddy for breakfus.
7.30 to 8—Brekfus.
8 to 8.20—Prairs.
7 to 8.30—hard study.
8:30—Start for skool.
9—Get there (a fellar must have some fun in life.)
9 to 10:30—Study and resite.
10:30 to 10:45—Reses (ort to be longer.)
10:45 to 12—Study and resite.

P. M.

12 to 12:15—Goin fer lunch.
12:15 to 12:30—Eatin' it
12:30 to 1—Sloos of things. Playin' ball mosly.
1 to 3—Skool agen. Tuffest part of the day.
3—Skool over. Fun begins.
3 to 6—Base-ball. Bisickle ridin. Goin' to walk (sometimes with a girl). Slidin' and skatin' in winter. Flyin' kite. Bothrin' the dog. Penuts. Goin' to ride with pa. Shopin' with ma (wen I don't kno' it beforehand). Kandy. In bad wether readin.' Sloos of other things.
6 to 7—Dinner (grate time for me.)
7 to 7:30—Nothin' much. Don't feel like it.
7:30 to 8—Pa gets dun with paper, an' reads sumthin' alowd.
8—Sez I must begin to study.
8 to 8:15—Kickin' against.
8:15 to 9:15—Study.
9:15—Gwup to bed.
9:15 to 9:35—Windin' Waterbury Watch.
9:35 to 9:45—Undressin' and gettin' into bed.
9:45—Till mornin.' Grate big times with dreems, but a fellar can't stop to injoy things much. Wonder why dreems can't hang on more like reel things?

Not without its drawbacks—the toboggan slide.

Mrs. Upton Flaite is so afraid of burglars that she never lets down the folding-bed at night without looking under it for a man.

The late Oliver Ditson left $10,000 for the founding of a home for poor singers. But the sum is appallingly inadequate. Fifteen millions wouldn't house the half of them.

He: "Believe me, dearest, when I say that I shall be the happiest of mortals if you will but consent to share my lot and—" She: "Just a moment, Mr. Breeze. Is it a corner lot?"

Two little Mobile boys were fishing from a wharf the other day, when one of them fell into the water. The other rushed up to a deck hand, exclaiming: "Save him, Mister! He's got de bait!"

"Well, my dear, what did you think of Dr. Verbose's sermon this morning?" "Why, I am very much surprised. I never knew before that the apparently simple text he chose was so hard to explain."

He Lost the Place.—Employer: "You say that your habits are all correct?" Applicant: "Yes, sir." Employer (after a moment's pause): "Do you drink?" Applicant (absent minded): "Thanks. Don't care if I do."

The querist was a sprightly youth. "Why would a barber rather shave three Irishmen than one German?" asked he. "You give it up? Of course you do. Well, because he'd get forty-five cents from the three Irishmen and only fifteen cents from the German."

"Emeline," said the mother of that enchanting young lady, do you think think that Mr. Flatbroke has made up his mind to propose to you?" "I'm afraid not, mother," replied Emeline, sadly. "He was bragging about his appetite only yesterday."

Says the Arizona Howler: "In order to open up new avenues of humor we have decided hereafter not to admit any old jokes on the timeworn subjects, except as paid matter at regular advertising rates. Among the jokes thus barred out are the mother-in-law joke, the bank-cashier joke, the girl and the ice cream joke, the plumber joke, and didn't know it was loaded joke. We shall thus be enabled to print a larger number of our own racy local jokes, which, as every one knows, are vastly superior to these Eastern chestnuts."

"What a wonderful painter Rubens was!" remarked Merritt, at the art gallary. "Yes" assented Cora. "It is said of him that he could change a laughing face into a sad one by a single stroke." "Why," spoke up little Johnnie, in disgust "my school teacher can do that."

A gentleman recently returned from a drive through the country towns of New York asserts that he has not very much objection to a cottage that is consistently Queen Anne all through, but he advances a strong antipathy to those houses—and their name is legion—"that are Queen Anne in front and Mary Anne at the back."

A patent medicine vender in a country village was dilating to a crowd upon the wonderful efficiency of his iron bitters. "Why," said he, "Steve Jenkins had only taken the bitters one week when he was shoved into prison for murder, and what does Steve do but open a vein in his arm and take iron enough out of his blood to make a crowbar, with which he pried the doors open and let himself out."

A SHARP DARKY.—Sam Johnsing, having attended a night school for a few weeks, believes that he is the smartest nigger in Austin. He was a witness in a burglary case and created a sensation by his great intelligence. "Do you think you would recognize the burglar if you were to see him again?" "Why boss, of course I would." "You are sure you would identify the thief if you were to see him again?" "I tell you so ag'in. I'se not one of dese fool nigger's what doesn't know nuffin. I could 'dentify dat man eben if I nebber seed him ag'in. I don't hab to see him ag'in to 'dentify him."

DON'T TOSS THE BABY.

The throwing a baby into the air and catching him again is always a risky practice, certain though the tosser may be of his quickness of eye and sureness of hand. A sudden and unexpected movement of the child in his mid-air flight may result in a cruel fall.

A gay young father snatched up his baby boy one morning and tossed him to the ceiling. Twice the little fellow went flying through the air and came down safely into the waiting arms. The third time the excited child gave a spring of delight as his father's hand released him, plunged forward and, pitched over the father's shoulder, fell head downward to the floor. When the poor baby came out of the stupor in which he lay for hours it was found that, although no bones had been broken, the brain had sustained an injury that would in all probability render the child an imbecile.

Another baby snatched from the floor and tossed into the air received a fatal wound on the top of the head from the pointed ornaments of a chandalier. Still another child slipped between the the father's hands as he caught at her in her downward flight, and although his frenzied grasp on the baby's arm saved her from falling to the ground, it wrenched muscles and sinews so cruelly that the girl's arm was shrunken and practically useless to her all her life. These are extreme cases, but the fact of their occurring at all should be enough to warn one from the habit of relinquishing one's hold on a child when tossing it.

Such is Fame.

The rumor that the Duke of Westminster informed Mr. Russell Lowell that he had long admired the poetry of his brother James is without foundation.

The worst specimen of the fame that overtakes a man who is helpless to ward it off comes to light in the case of an Englishman who is said to have congratulated Mark Twain upon the exquisite humor in his Burdette column.

WONDER if the centennial of the constitution, which is to be celebrated in New York city on the 29th of April, will be managed exclusively by the upper 400 of that city? If so it will lose much of its interest for the other parts of the country.

THE President announced that he would recognize no factions in any State and that in order to get applications considered it would be necessary to get the endorsement of the solid State delegations. This action has been generally commended as having a tendency to promote harmony.

THE reckless conduct that has characterized several Democratic Legislatures recently is not calculated to improve the prospects of the party for obtaining more power. New Jersey and Indiana will serve as a warning to the voters of other States to keep Democracy from gaining control.

SECRETARY WINDOM will carry out the law authorizing bond purchases and thus solve temporarily the troublesome surplus question, which alarmed Mr. Cleveland and his friends so much when an important election was at hand, but which entirely passed from their minds when the election was over.

DISPATCHES from St. Petersburg say that the Afghans are bent on fighting; that they are advancing upon the frontier from Herat; and that the Emir of Bokhara is preparing to attack them. Russian newspapersare filled with articles advising war. This means that the Czar is getting ready to gobble another slice of Afghanistan.

PTIVATE Secretary Halford,of President Harrison's,Cabinet has brought East and turned to Senator Higgins, of Delaware, an umbrella left at Indianapolis when that statesman made a pilgrimage to the late Republican Mecca. This episode insures Elijah an enduring place in juvenile literature by the side of the little hatchet story.

IT seems hard for West Virginia to reduce the Democratic majority in eight years from 11,000 to the disappearing point, and then to lose all the Republican Congressmen because the Governor does not approve of the Republican tendency of the State. A method to reduce the dimensions of Governor Wilson's cranium is a much needed want.

The Last but One.

The following from the Daily Journal of Philipsburg will be read with interest by friends of deceased in this part of the county:

The death of Mr. John Watkins, at his home near Milesburg, this county, a couple weeks since, removes from the scenes of earth all but one of the five brothers, who at the commencement of the late rebellion, entered Uncle Sam's service, and fought gallantly in defense of their country's flag. At the outbreak of that great conflict the five then young, strong and in the prime of life, bid farewell to the "old homestead," around which clustered so many pleasant and hallowed associations, and went forth "like the Sparton boy, to return with their shields or upon them." They fought bravely and made a record that will be as enduring as the mountains and valleys beneath which four of them are peacefully sleeping, and like thousands of others, who imperilled life and limb for "God and native land," their names will remain engraved upon the hearts of their countrymen long after their remains have mouldered back to the dust from whence they came. At the time of his death, Mr. John Watkins was one of the heaviest pensioners in this county, the Government paying him the handsome sum of fifty dollars per month as a remuneration for wounds received while in service. His brother William was killed at Gettysburg, during the famous charge at Round top, and his body was interred in one of those many graves marked "unknown." Jesse fell during one of the seven days' fight in the Wilderness, and his remains were consumed by a terrible fire which swept through the woods after the battle, and Frank, who died a year or so ago, at Morrisdale Mines, was twice wounded during the war, once at Gettysburg and again at the X-Roads. Alex, the only surving brother is residing at Point Lookout and, as was his brother John, is a pensioner on the Government. He is aged and crippled, and it will be only a matter of little time until he will be required to answer "here" at the call of the Great Commander, ere crossing the dark waters to join his comrades "gone before." One by one our brave gallant boys in blue are being mustered out. Soon they will live only in history, but their deeds of daring shall remain bright as the orb of day in the minds and hearts of generations yet unborn.

Will Orate at Lafayette.

Mr. Cyrus E. Woods, a former resident of Boalsburg, has been chosen to deliver the annual address before the Franklin Literary Scientific Association, of Lafayette College, during the commencement exercises in June. Mr. Woods graduated from Lafayette in 1886. While a student at that institution he won the Junior oratorical prize of one hundred dollars, was president of the Franklin Association, editor of the college journal and valedictorian of his class.

The address before the Association last year was delivered by Attorney General Kirkpatrick.

The gay young bicyclist he's in his bed,
Not for him is the spring sun shining,
He has been flung and is sore in body and head,
But Salvation Oil will make him smiling.

"I've got it at last," said the fellow who found his cough subdued by a bottle of Dr Bull's Cough Syrup.

A Renovo Policeman Murdered.

Joseph Paul, one of Renovo's best policemen, was instantly killed in that place on Tuesday night while in the discharge of his duty in suppressing a row. The murderer tried to escape, but has been arrested and is now in jail. Mr Paul was an efficient officer and a good citizen, and the greatest indignation at the foul deed is expressed by the citizens. If the murderer escapes lynching, Clinton county will have another murder trial.

New Rolling Mill.

The Centre Iron Company have increased their stock about $150,000. They are contemplating the erection of one of the largest rolling mills in the country, and officers of the company have been in Bellefonte this week making the preliminary arrangements. This will place the company in even better position for prosperously conducting their vast business.

We all have our preferences, but no one prefers to hear a crying baby when the fact is so well known that Dr Bull's Baby Syrup would at once quiet it.

It frequently happens that severe pain is very greatly relieved by thorough purgation. Use Laxador for this purpose. Price only 25 cents.

Death of an Aged Man.

On Tuesday night Mr. Dominick Noon died of consumption at his home on South Spring street. Mr. Noon was an aged gentleman and lived with his two surviving children. He was a widower and four children had preceeded him to the grave, two being left to mourn his death. He was a member of the Roman Catholic church and was highly esteemed.

Deafness Can't be Cured.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube be restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mrs. Louise Godfrey

who resides on Spring street, Bangor, Me., has abiding faith in the virtues of Brown's Sarsaparilla, and has the best of reasons for it. Twelve years ago she had a severe illness, and from the lack of proper treatment a scrofulous abcess formed, and although for a number of years it was not particularly troublesome, three years ago it began to discharge causing her a great deal of annoyance and apprehension. This continued for two years when she began the use of Brown's Sarsaparilla. One bottle stopped the discharge and four completed a cure, and this is why she in Brown's Sarsaparilla. Again showing what a deadly foe Brown's Sarsaparilla is to all forms of scrofula, Mr. F A Bishop, of the firm of Kimball & Bishop, doing business at Hermon, Me., says: "I began taking Brown's Sarsaparilla for indigestion, when, to my intense surprise, a tumor which had troubled me for more than five years, coming out on my shoulder blade so I could not lay back in my chair without causing me great pain, began to grow smaller and smaller until it has entirely disappeared. My stomach trouble left me and I am a well man owing to the wonderful curative powers of

Published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of this Commonwealth:

SECTION I. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment is proposed to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the Eighteenth Article thereof:

AMENDMENT

There shall be an additional article to said Constitution to be designated as Article XIX, as follows:

ARTICLE XIX.

The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale of intoxicating liquor, to be used as a beverage is hereby prohibited, and any violation of this prohibition shall be a misdemeanor, punishable as shall be provided by law.

The manufacture, sale, or keeping for sale of intoxicating liquor for other purposes than as a beverage may be allowed in such manner only as may be prescribed by law. The General Assembly shall, at the first session succeeding the adoption of this article of the Constitution, enact laws with adequate penalties for its enforcement.

AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION proposed to the citizens of this Commonwealth by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for their approval or rejection at a special election to be held June 18, 1889. Published by order of the Secretary of the Commonwealth, in pursuance of Article XVIII of the Constitution.

Joint resolutions proposing an amendment to the constitution of the commonwealth:

SECTION 1. Be it Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following is proposed as an amendment to the constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof.

AMENDMENT.

Strike out from section one, of article eight, the four qualifications for voters which reads as follows:

"If twenty-two years of age or upwards he shall have paid, within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months, and paid at least one month before the election," so that the section which reads as follows:

"Every male citizen, twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at all elections:

First He shall have been a citizen of the United States at least one month.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year, (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least two months immediately preceding the election.

Fourth. If twenty-two years of age or upwards, he shall have paid within two years, a state or county tax, which shall have been assessed at least two months and paid at least one month before the election," shall be amended, so as to read as follows:

Every male citizen twenty-one years of age, possessing the following qualifications, shall be entitled to vote at the polling place of the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere.

First. He shall have been a resident of the United States at least thirty days.

Second. He shall have resided in the state one year (or if, having previously been a qualified elector or native born citizen of the state, he shall have removed therefrom and returned, then six months) immediately preceding the election.

Third. He shall have resided in the election district where he shall offer to vote at least thirty days immediately preceding the election. The legislature, at the session thereof next after the adoption of this section, shall, and from time to time thereafter may, enact laws to properly enforce this provision.

Fourth. Every male citizen of the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been a citizen for thirty days and an inhabitant of this state one year next preceding an election, except at municipal elections, and for the last thirty days a resident of the election district in which he may offer his vote, shall be entitled to vote at such election in the election district of which he shall at the time be a resident and not elsewhere for all officers that now are or hereafter may be elected by the people: Provided, That in time of war no elector in the actual military service of the State or of the United States, in the army or navy thereof, shall be deprived of his vote by reason of his absence from such election district, and the legislature shall have power to provide the manner in which and the time and place at which such absent electors may vote, and for the return and canvas of their votes in the election district in which they respectively reside.

Fifth. For the purpose of voting, no person shall be deemed to have gained or lost a residence by reason of his presence or absence while employed in the service of the United States or the State, nor while engaged in the navigation of the waters of the State or of the high seas, nor while a student of any college or seminary of learning, nor while kept at any almshouse or public institution, except the inmates of any home for disabled and indigent soldiers and sailors, who, for the purpose of voting, shall be deemed to reside in the election district where said home is located. Laws shall be made for ascertaining, by proper proofs, the citizens who shall be entitled to the right of suffrage hereby established."

—There is a great deal of criticism in New York papers of the bad conduct of Pennsylvania soldiers at the inaugural. One paper indulges the hope that they will not be invited to the next inauguration. Perhaps there is considerable jealousy in this wish of the New York journal because Pennsylvania, as usual, eclipsed all other states.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Hall of Lumen Lodge, No. 639, I. O. O. F.

UNIONVILLE, Pa., March 9, 1889.

WHEREAS, our Father in Heaven has, for some good and wise purpose, removed by death from our midst our friend and brother, W. R. Mattern.

Resolved, That this lodge sensibly feels and seriously regrets the unavoidable result, as we lose in him a true friend, a diligent and earnest brother Odd Fellow.

Resolved, That this Lodge feelingly sympathizes with the widow and children in their bereavement, trusting that in their loss he may have great and lasting gain.

Resolved, That Brother Mattern was an Odd Fellow noted for actions more than his words and in his life illustrated that the principles of friendship, love, and truth could be more effectually taught and impressed by works and deeds than by much speaking.

Resolved, That this Lodge be draped in mourning for the space of thirty days and each member wear the usual badge of mourning for the same length of time.

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the county papers and a copy of them be conveyed to the bereaved widow of our deceased brother.

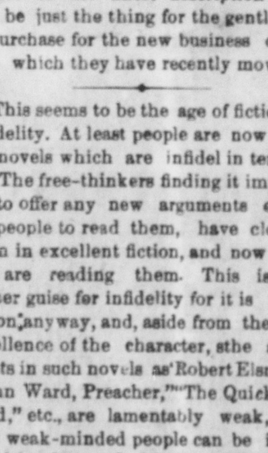
The Apron Fair and Supper on Thursday.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. now report that their apron fair and supper will be held on Thursday of this week. The fair will continue during the entire day and evening, and commencing about 5 o'clock p. m. there will be a delicious supper of fried oysters, chicken pie, stewed chicken, etc., to be followed in the evening by ice cream, cake and coffee. The supper will cost only 35 cents.

In regard to the fair, it is certain that it will be the most elaborate affair of the sort ever given here. The aprons are of every description and all unusually fine. They are for the kitchen, the parlor, and every place and will be interesting to see, so it will be advisable to go early before the best in the collection are chosen There will be the usual variety of other fancy articles affording a most excellent opportunity for anyone who may desire, to get such articles at a bargain. For instance, we are informed that the sachet bags are marvels of beauty, the pen wipers of the finest description and will be just the thing for the gentlemen to purchase for the new business offices into which they have recently moved.

—This seems to be the age of fictictious infidelity. At least people are now reading novels which are infidel in tendency. The free-thinkers finding it impossible to offer any new arguments or to get people to read them, have clothed them in excellent fiction, and now people are reading them. This is the proper guise for infidelity for it is mere fiction, anyway, and, aside from the real excellence of the character, sthe arguments in such novels as Robert Elsmere, "John Ward, Preacher," "The Quick and Dead," etc., are lamentably weak, and only weak-minded people can be influenced by them. In "Robert Elsmere" the substance of the great conversation which caused the clergyman to give up his faith is not given to the reader, which leaves the reader in utter ignorance as to what it can be. In "John Ward, Preacher," not one of the characters seemed to be certain of his own belief, and it would be impossible, anywhere, to find such queer, stubborn individuals. Evidently, the authors of these works were like the majority of free thinkers—they don't comprehend the religion which they seek to attack.



The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Peculiar Sarsaparilla. It strengthens and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence.

Another Opportunity for Commendable Legislation.

We have already commended the Amendment resolution passed by the present State Legislature and also indulged the hope of the passage of the Compulsory Education bill. Hand in hand with this latter bill is one which prohibits the employment in factories or mercantile establishments of any child under 12 years of age: There is already on the statute books a law prohibiting the employment in factories of children under that age and any factory which is employing such children is doing so in violation of law. The added effect of the proposed act is only to extend it to include the mercantile establishments. This would afford some inconvenience to the stores which employ young lads for check boys, but, considering the fact that they should be acquiring useful knowledge we think the proprietors will gladly limit the employment of such help to boys over 12 years. We would not be in favor of the passage of this act without also the adoption of the Compulsory Education Act. The two should go together. It would be manifestly wrong to deprive the boys of occupation if the only effect is to turn them on the street, but if they can then be compelled to attend school the result will be excellent.

We trust that the adoption of the Compulsory Education Act will be followed by that which prohibits the employment of children within the age stated.

There is another bill of which we would heartily approve as an act of National Legislation, but we are not prepared to endorse it as limited to State legislation. It is the levying of a tax on every employer who employes a foreigner who is not or has no intention of becoming a citizen of this country, the tax to be 25 cents per day for each foreigner so employed. The spirit of the tax is all right, but we would hesitate to place the employers of this State at a disadvantage in relation to employers in other states. This act should become national legislation, placing all employers on the same footing, and then we would approve of it.

Become a Member at Once.

Quite a number of young men have called at the new rooms of the Y. M. C. A. on Allegheny street and pledged themselves to become members of the Gymnasium Association which it is proposed to form if such an Association is desired. The gymnasium will be fitted up in the building on the rear of the lot and will be entirely separate from the Y M C A though under its supervision.

The terms will be extremely reasonable—only $3 per year or $1 per quarter of three months. We are sure it is the best opportunity that will be offered at any time, because there is the assurance not only of an excellent gymnasium, but also the certainty that it will be properly conducted, which is very important. It is desirable to have a large membership before the first of April, and those who will join can call at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Allegheny street, any evening after 7 o'clock and give their names to G. Wash Rees, who is in charge of the the rooms.

A Pauper's Wealth.

A Crawfordsville, Ind., dispatch says that George Cook, aged 70, an inmate of the poor house, was discovered to have $6,228 hidden under his bed, $4'000 of it being gold. Cook came to the poor farm seven months ago. He got into a quarrel with the Superintendent, who put him in the calaboose to cool off. Fearing he might have fire arms, the Superintendent searched his room and found $12. This he returned to Cook, who, supposing the whole amount had been found, confessed. He was discharged from the poor farm, and now has his money in bank. He is a queer character and claims to be a Russian exile.

—Last Friday night a freight train with two engines crashed into the rear of another freight train on the Sunbury and Lewistown Railroad, about two miles west of Middleburgh. Six coal cars, the caboose and the two engines were all piled upon each other, making a total wreck. George Williams of Lewisburg, was buried in the wreck and instantly killed, having his legs and body badly mangled. Engineers Al. Rarick and John Hopple jumped from their engines after reversing them and received painful and serious cuts and bruises. Lewis Reigle was also knocked from the train and sustained internal injuries.

The Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The third annual convention of the Williamsport district of the Young Men's Christian Association, comprising the counties of Lycoming, Union, Centre, Montour and Northumberland, met in the Methodist Episcopal Church, Milton, Friday evening. The exercises were opened with prayer and a choral service. The address of welcome was delivered by Rev. Richard A. Hinkle, pastor of the church, and responded to by Mr. J. E. Dayton of Williamsport. Mr. Dudd E. Cannon, President of the Home Association, addressed the Convention on the subject of "Why we need a Young Men's Christian Association in our town." Rev. Charles D. Austin made the address of the evening. About sixty delegates reported. Governor Beaver's son, Gilbert, of the State College, was among the delegates.

When children gather in delight,
To fill the air with bubbles bright,
Of this let parents all be sure—
The soap they use is good and pure,
For, common grease in some we find
With evil mixtures well combined
That soon with burning sores will tell
On lips and tongue, and gums as well.

Let Ivory Soap, that's made with care
Of purest oils and essence rare,
Be used by those who bubbles blow
And greatest pleasure will they know,
For brighter bubbles will be seen
Where soap is pure and fresh and clean,
While not a fear need cross the mind
Of bad results of any kind.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Marriage at Fillmore.

On Tuesday evening, March 5, at the residence of H. T. Norris, of Fillmore, this county, quite a large company assembled to witness the marriage of Mr. Norris' daughter, Minnie, and Mr. Joseph Mingle, of Huntingdon county, Pa. Rev. Elliott, of the Presbyterian church at Unionville officiated.

At precisely 5 o'clock Miss Reeser took her seat at the organ and began to play a wedding march, when Miss Ella Johnson and the groom's brother, both of Huntingdon county, made their appearance in the parlor, followed by the bride and groom. These, in turn, were followed by Miss McEntire and Mr. Resser, of Fillmore.

The minister at once began the solemn marriage ceremony, which made the two man and wife. After the congratulations, the guests repaired to the dining room, where a most sumptuous dinner awaited them, to which all did justice.

The bride's fawn colored dress and white veil were very beautiful and becoming. The maids of honor—one in cinnamon color and the other in light blue—looked very pretty indeed. The gentlemen were also becomingly dressed. In all they were a very handsome wedding party.

A collection of well selected and valuable presents were received, all of which will be useful to them in housekeeping.

—The presence of Rev. Dr. John S Stahr, of Franklin and Marshall College, in the Reformed church on Sunday, was very pleasant to the members of that congregation. He officiated twice. In the morning he represented very forcibly the needs of Franklin and Marshall College and secured several pledges of financial aid. In the evening he preached a very excellent sermon. The gentleman is professor of Natural sience in that College, but it is said that his acquirements are so great and varied that ha can fill with credit any chair of learning in the institution.

Strong Prohibition Resolutions.

The Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical church, in session in Williamsport on Saturday, adopted resolutions as follows:

WHEREAS, the licensing of intoxicating liquors as a beverage does not regulate or diminish the evils of intemperance and since we cannot get away from the fact that license produces sales, and sales produce drunkenness, and drunkenness produces poverty and crime, and whereas the saloon is the birthplace of inexpressible suffering and degredation, a foe to God, a curse to man, and reproach to the State, therefore,

Resolved, That any license high or low by legalization is given the saloon, is a sin against God, and a crime against society. We declare our attitude on the temperance question that of uncompromising opposition to the whole traffic in intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and we are unequivocally in favor of Constitutional Prohibition.

We rejoice that the right which inheres to us in our citizenship, to amend the constitution of the State, forever prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all intoxicating liquors as a beverage will be accorded to the voting citizens of Pennsylvania on the 18th day of June, 1889. We will not only cast our own ballots for the amendment but will see to it, that all whom we can influence will "go and do likewise."

He who is not against the saloon, is for it. We respectfully urge our daily and weekly newspapers to advocate the adoption of the amendment because we believe the best interests of the country will thereby be promoted.

The battle on the 18th of June will be between High License and Prohibition. Let every patriot and Christian who loves his country, his God and his home vote for prohibition, and when the victory is won, we will "praise God from whom all blessings flow."

Your committee would humbly recommend that these resolutions be read from the pulpit in all our churches by each pastor in charge in the month of April or May.

The New Commissioners' Clerk.

It seems that the county commissioners did not lose any time in the election of a clerk to fill the place made vacant by the death of the late W. R. Mattern. The successful gentleman is Mr. James Strohm of Centre Hill, and he is most excellently fitted for the position. It is the belief of people who know him that he will fill the position with great skill and be of incalcable aid to the commissioners. There were several other candidates for the position, but Mr. Strohm was chosen without much hesitancy.

—Colonel John Sobieski, of Pittsburg, is lecturing in favor of the Prohibition Amendment and is very highly praised by Miss Francis Willard and others. What adds to the interest of this gentleman's lecture is the fact that he is a lineal descendant of Sobieski, the noted Polander, who lost all his possessions and had to flee from his own country because of his efforts in behalf of the liberty of his people. Hence, his remarkable personal liberty are of double significance. Perhaps this eloquent genuleman could be secured to lecture in Bellefonte. He was in Tyrone on Tuesday evening.

—According to the act of June 8, 1881, it is an offense to deface walls, fences, trees, etc., by painting, posting bills or otherwise unless permission has been granted by the owner. The law imposes a fine of not less than $25 and an imprisonment of thirty days.

LAND WORTH $8,000,000 AN ACRE.

The highest price ever paid for a piece of Chicago real estate was that given by Mr. H. H Kohlsaat for the Northwest corner of Dearborn and Madison streets. The dimensions of the property are twenty by forty feet, and the price paid was $150.000 which is equivalent to $7,500 per front foot, $187.50 per square foot, $1 30 per square inch, or about $8,000 000 per acre. The corner is considered one of the finest in the city, and Mr. Kohlsaat did not make the purchase for the purpose of throwing any money away. The property is known as the Daniels corner, and the fee is in Mr. Tolman Wheeler.

Died from Cigarette Smoking.

Philadelphia Inquirer, March 8th.

Lewis R. Robinson, aged 15 years, living at No. 730 Wharton Street, died on Monday, and his case came up before Coroner Ashbridge. The parents of the youth said that since their son's death they had learned that for a long time he had been addicted to the use of tobacco, and especially to the smoking of cigarettes. Mr. Robinson, the father, had caught his son smoking several times, but until his death he did not know that the cigarettes had been used to excess. Dr. Keller had been called to attend the lad Saturday, and found him suffering from a severe headache and earache, then thought to have been caused by a tumor in the ear.

Dr. Formad, who made the post-mortem examination, testified that young Robinson undoubtedly came to his death through the excessive use of tobacco, and the jury decided that death was caused by narcotic poison.

IN THE UNITED STATES.

The coming year promises to be crowded with startling events.

In the United States the entrance of new issues into the political arena has been followed by a change of Administration. But the great economic question upon which the case was turned is still unsettled, and its solution is now committed to a Congress almost equally divided between the two great parties.

Europe is a vast camp. Army corps patrol the frontiers, and millions of men await the signal for the most titanic war the world has ever seen.

The HERALD'S news-gathering machinery is unequalled. Its correspondents dot the habitable globe. Nothing can escape their vigilance, and no expense is spared in spreading the results of their efforts before the herald's readers.

ALL THE NEWS OF AMERICA will be found each week in the HERALD, while its FOREIGN DEPARTMENT will contain a panorama of the Old World, flashed under the sea over the COMMERCIAL CABLES.

MANY EVENTS.

THE HAPPENINGS OF A DAY BRIEFLY TOLD FOR THE READERS OF THIS PAPER.

Mr. Wm. P. Harris, of Lamar, Clinton county, died on Friday night, after a long illness. He was a brother of our townsmen, Messrs. John P. and Henry Harris, and was about 70 years of age.

Charlie Seeds, of Tyrone, attempted to jump on a moving train in that place on Friday. But he made a misstep and was thrown violently to the ground, bruising his face badly.

Last Saturday the two horses which draw the Brockerhoff House bus became too lively and one of them actually jumped the traces and became inextricably entangled with the tongue of the vehicle. By skillful manipulation on the part of fifty men and boys, the animal was gotten into position again without damage to the bus or injury to itself.

The Lock Haven Democrat says that information is wanted as to the whereabouts of one Charles Hetzel, Jr., who left the house of Richard Dettling, in Bellefonte, on Saturday, March 2, 1889. The boy is 13 years old, heavy set, dark eyes and hair, wore a black slouch hat, blue flannel shirt, dark barred coat, old striped patched pants, and old shoes. Any information concerning the missing boy will be thankfully received by his father, Charles Hetzel, Lock Haven, Pa.

A particularly enjoyable event in social annals occured on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider. They entertained, in their very pleasing manner, about sixty of their friends. The result was a most brilliant gathering which was in every way very successful. Music, vocal and instrumental, conversation and other diversions occupied the time. Very choice refreshments were served, and at a suitable hour the company separated.

The gentleman who will officiate in the Reformed church on Sunday morning and evening is Dr. Jno. S. Stahr, Professor of Natural Sciences and German in Franklin and Marshall College at Lancaster, Pa. He is a gentleman of fine attainments and eloquence and his sermons will be very edifying.

Deafness Can't be Cured.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucus lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflamation can be taken out and this tube be restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucus surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

—President and Mrs. Harrison are electifying Washington by some innovations which are very pleasing. For instance, when they receive their friends, they do not act like mere automatons but like creatures of flesh and blood. It has been customary for the President and his wife to stand in one place and merely receive the guests or bid them farewell as the case may be. But the President acts in the natural way he did in Indianapolis at his own home. He not only receives them, but he pays them numerous courteous attentions. He even helps the ladies on with their wraps and aids his gentlemen friends to put on their overcoats, as one who entertains is expected to do. Heretofore such things were left exclusively to the servants, the President and his wife feeling too keenly their exalted position to permit them to do it. But Harrison, being the son of a long line of distinguished ancestry, and having true courtesy and politeness so thoroughly inculcated as to become his second nature, is always the same not withstanding the position he may occupy. He will be a model for Presidents for all time to come.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady of this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. Kings New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs Luther Lutz." Thus write W. C, Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. —Get a free trial bottle at W. C. Keplinger & Co's. Drug Store.

—A special telegram from Brockwayville to the Pittsburgh dailies of a few days ago contained the following: "On the roads leading from this village southward to DuBois and more than midway to the latter point, the anti-clinal axis separating the Reynoldsville coal basin from the Tyler coal is very marked. Huge bolders said to be the Homewood sandstone, lie on both sides of the valley for a distance of about three miles. This rock is entirely free from conglomerate, and is of fine grain and white almost as the snow. DuBois draws upon the sand in large quantities for plastering, for which purpose it is magnificent. It is now said that it is a valuable glass sand and that a Pittsburgh company has been negotiating for the purchase of a large tract of the basin for a glass works site and sand supply. The territory is reached by three competing railroads, and in case the sand be a valuable glass sand there is enough of it there to meet the demands of all the Union."

A Terrible Misfortune.

It is a calamity of the direct kind to feel that one's physical energies are failing in the prime of life—to feel more nerveless, more dispirited, weaker every day. Yet this is the unhappy lot of hundreds who surround us. A source of renewed strength which science approves, in behalf of which multitudes of the debilitated have and are every day testifying, and which, in countless instances, has built up constitutions sapped by weakness and infirmity and long unbenefitted by other means, surely commends itself to all who need a tonic. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is such a medicine—pure, bontanic, soothing to the nerves, promotive of digestion and a fertilizer of the blood. Dyspepsia and nervousness—the first a cause, the second a consequence of lack of stamina—depart when a course of the Bitters is tried. All forms of malarial disease, rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble, constipation and biliousness are annihilated by this standard family medicine.

Bohemian Oats in the Supreme Court.

On Thursday of last week a case which grew out of the Bohemian oats swindle, so largely practiced in this county, reached the Supreme Court. It was upon an application for a reversal of the judgment rendered to the Common Pleas Court of Berks county in the suit of Gere, Black and Johnson against John Unger.

In December, 1885, Unger bought thirty bushels of the so-called Bohemian oats from Irving Becker, a representative of the Bohemian Oats Association, and paid for them in a promissory note for $300 due April 1, 1887. At the same time Becker gave Unger a "bond" of the association agreeing to sell sixty bushels of Bohemian oats for Unger for $10 a bushel his note not to be called for until after the sale was made. Unger's note went from Becker to Miller and from Miller to the plaintiffs, who are manufacturers of agricultural implements at Osage, N. Y., in payment of an old debt.

The thirty bushels of oats which Unger bought, of course, produced only an ordinary crop, and even for that crop Unger never received any money, having delivered the oats without receiving payment to the persons to whom the association had sold them. To the suit upon the note Unger filed affidavits alleging these facts. The plaintiffs clamed that they did not constitute a defense to a suit on the note by an innocent third party, but the Court thought otherwise, and refused to grant judgment. It was from this decision that the appeal was taken to the Supreme Court, where it was argued that the defense amounted to nothing more than an allegation of a failure of consideration. The Supreme Court reserved its decision.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English with full directions for preparing and using. Visited by the Legislature.

Friday, the 8th, was the 90th anniversary of the birthday of Hon. Simon Cameron. If the programme was carried out he was visited by the members of the Senate and House, the following being the resolutions on the subject adopted by the Senate:

WHEREAS, Upon Friday, the 8th day of March, A. D. 1889, Hon. Simon Cameron will have reached his 90th year in a life unexcelled in public interest and importance in the history of the State or Nation; therefore be it, Resolved, If the House concur, that tomorrow morning March 8th, 1889, at 11 a. m., the Legislature proceed in a body to the residence of the Hon. Simon Cameron to pay their respects to our distinguished citizen upon his 90th birthday.

Weather Wise.

The Allentown Democrat, a newspaper which devotes much space to historical researches says this of the month of March:

"Ordinarily March is the most disagreeable of all the months—cold, snowy and stormy—but we need have no anticipation of any lengthened interval of Arctic visitations. Altogether this has been the most remarkable winter this part of the country has ever experienced. We had but two or three snow falls and these so light that they barely covered the ground, and for this reason no sleighing. The general mildness of the weather was contrary to the prevalence of good health, and it will no doubt have a disastrous effect upon the fruit and other things that grow."

We don't agree with the assertion that "the general mildness of the weather was contrary to the prevalence of good health.' Statistics prove that the death rate is higher when extreme cold prevails and during the mild weather of this winter there were fully one hundred fewer deaths per week than during the corresponding weeks of last winter when the cold was severe. This is not in accord with general belief, but it seems to be a fact.

—Andy Huffman, of Philipsburg, on Tuesday of this week visited the house of Mrs. Waple, a notoriously suspicious rendezvous in Houtzdale, and while there claimed that he lost $90 in money. The next day he returned to the house and made a demand for the lost treasure, but on receiving no satisfaction drew a revolver and fired at Miss Richards, a sister of Mrs. waple, who was supposed to have the money. Three shots were fired, one of the bails taking effect in Miss Richards' left foot. He was accompanied by a colored man, and after the shooting both fled. They were subsequently arrested and jailed at Clearfield. Miss Richards is a sister of the woman who was found shot dead about two years ago in the woods between Philipsburg and Morrisdale—the perpetrator of which has never been discovered.

Gentlemen's Fashions.

Some of the exquisite young men of New York are determined altogether to reform the simple black-and-white of a modern gentleman's evening dress, and the smart young Frenchman is following their example. At a recent dinner party at Nice all the men came rigged out in carnation swallow-tails. No doubt they believed they presented an immensely distinguished appearance. The attempts to disestablish black-and-white has been tried many times and has always come to grief. Its most ridiculous manifestation is the bit of red silk bulging on the white vest and the strip of red sock over the black pumps. These are fripperies, but they won't revolutionize society.

But the whole fabric of society will be at once upset and a new order of things will begin if a young man about town, before he accepts an invitation to dance or dinner, is to consider whether he has any clothes to wear; if he is to be deterred by the fear that his pea green pants have become too familiar in the eyes of his social circle, and he doubts whether the mauve coat which he especially effects will harmonize with the gown of the young lady with whom he intends to dance all the waltzes which she will grant to him. Suppose that the costume of the loving pair do not harmonize. What are they to do? As self-respecting members of society they can not cut a bizarre figure together. There will be nothing for it but to sit it out all the evening in a secluded and unlighted corner, and make up, if they can, by the harmony of their souls for the discord of their toilettes. An even more disastrous effect of making men's dress more elaborate and more expensive will be to further reduce the already reduced ranks of the dancing men.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism for 10 years standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all disease of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at W. C. Keplinger & Co's. Drugstore.

Worked Both Ways.

Some 17 years ago a man named Burchinal taught the Bunker Hill school in Redstone township, Fayette county, and for a trifling offense severely thrashed Thomas Rhadaback, a boy of about 13 years old. Burchinal was prosecuted and paid his fine and costs amounting to $8. Tomy declared that when he grew to be a man he would lick that teacher, and last week he made his words good. Burchinal was traveling in Jefferson township and knocked at a door and was invited in by Mrs. Rhodaback. Tommy, who is now a powerful man, upon recognizing Burchinal, sprang at him and kicked him out of the house and gave him a sound thrashing. Tommy paid the fine and costs this time.

The Handsomest Lady in Bellefonte Remarked to a friend the other day that she knew Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when others had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merits, any druggist will give you a sample bottle free. Large size 50c and $1.

Clearfield Coal Trade.

At the present time there is an unusual depression in the Clearfield coal trade. There are enough coal cars, but orders are exceedingly scarce. Mr. George M Brisbin, who is the coal pioneer of that region and largely interested in the coal business, informs us that the present dullness exceeds anything ever before known in the history of that district, except during local strikes. this is not very good showing for the opening of a new season, and it looks rather bad for the Democratic party which has been running things for four years past, but every cloud has a silver lining and the Republican party will constitute the silver lining for this cloud.

—Three citizens of Altoona were summoned before the Mayor of that city on a rather peculiar charge, viz., that of sending in alarms of fire at the time of the burning of the Mountain City theatre. After the first alarm had been given they became excited and gave five more. This is in violation of an ordinance. Sounding an alarm too often runs down the machinery and renders it inoperative should an alarm be given in any other part of the city. The summoning of these persons was merely for the sake of convincing them and others that judgment and common sense must influence citizens at such times.

WIDE AWAKE.

Why Some of Howard's Young Men Visited Bellefonte.

IMPROVEMENTS AND CHANGES AT HOWARD IN A WEEK.

Robert Cooke, Sen., died on Thursday, February 28, 1889, and was buried on Sunday March 3. The following named gentlemen were the pall bearers: Reuben Pletcher, Augustus Montgomery, B. Weber, Solomon Candy, S. F. Kline, Joseph Roger, B. F. Holter, A. J. Gardner, J. Z. Long, W. B. Smith, James Wyble and A. P. Holter. The funeral was quite a large gathering.

Mrs. Margaret Sharp, of McKeesport, died at the above named place on Monday, and was buried at Curtin on Tuesday.

Will Trafford left this place on last Saturday evening bound for Central America. A long trip, and we hope Will will enjoy it and wake up his South American cousins.

Robert Treaster is again at home, looking hale and hearty.

Mr. John Trafford has resigned his position at Tyrone and has concluded to "take a rest" for a while at home.

Miller Allison has purchased for himself a new horse and has gone into the huckstering business in good shape.

Mrs. Clara Dunham, formerly of this place, but now of Bellefonte, was visiting friends in Howard recently.

Miss Adda Confer, after several days sickness with the measles, is now recovering.

Mr. Clyde Lucas has also been suffering with measles.

Quite a number of the citizens of this vicinity—especially the younger portion—have been attending court in Bellefonte with the object of testifying to the true condition of the hotel here.

Mr. Walter Cooke, we are glad to learn, has been appointed express agent at this place, the position held by his late lamented father.

Mr. Jones Spearing, of Clearfield, is visiting his brother-in-law Dr. Beck.

The entertainment given in Lucas & Brother's hall, by the Howard Cornet Band, on last Saturday evening, proved to be quite a success, they having realized $29 from it. There is some talk of repeating it in the near future.

Kipe Leathers has gone into the fish business. He says "catties" are worth 12½ cents per pound and all others 10 cents per pound.

Lucas & Brother's store was closed on Thursday on account of the death of Mrs. Margaret Sharp.

Will McClintic, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia, is recovering very rapidly.

Daniel Holter is now employed in looking after the interests of the railroad company in this place.

William Tipie left here on Tuesday en route for a point up the river, where he will go on the drive.

Superintendent S. S. Blair sent W. L. Cooke a brand new desk, which is to be placed in the station. It adds greatly to the appearance of the room.

The band intend to be out next Friday evening for the purpose of serenading the parties who took part in their entertainment on last Saturday.

George Moore returned home from a two weeks visit.

Will Holter, of this place, will go to housekeeping in a few days. He will occupy the house formerly occupied by Henry Solsburg and owned by B. Weber.

H. Colens Waddle arrived home on the express Monday morning.

Mr. Jacob Cooke, of Woodstock, Va., was at home over Sunday, in attendance at his father's funeral.

Jos. H. Schenck, Paul Swartz, John Schenck, H. T. Lucas and John B. Holter were Howard's contingent at Harrison's Inaugural.

Remembered with Thanks.

On behalf of the Senior Class of the Bellefonte High School we desire to extend our thanks to the public for the liberal patronage we received on the occasion of our entertainment on Tuesday evening. We also wish to extend our thanks to the following persons: To Misses Rebie Garman and Carrie Gross and to Harry G. DeSylvia and John Bayard for their assistance in the cast. To Messrs. John Meese and W. H. Wilkinson for glassware and to Rowe & Bro., and Camp & Naginey for furniture loaned us. To Calvin Ray and Chas. Garner, Jr., for assistance in preparing tage and hall. To J. A. Finkbinder for scenery and to the Board of the Y. M. C. A. for the use of the hall, and to all others who lent us any assistance we extend our hearty thanks. Should we ever again appear before the public we trust we will receive the same generous support we did this time. Signed on behalf of the Class of '89.

H. U. TIBBENS,
A. J. CRUSE, JR.
C. T. NOLL,

The Brave Old Admiral.

Vice Admiral Rowan, whose grade was created by a special act of Congress, has been placed on the retired list at his own request, with the full pay of his grade, $9,000 a year. This action was taken under the provisions of a special act of Congress of December 20, 1866, authorizing his retirement on full pay at any time designated by himself. Admiral Rowan has seen every kind of service his profession called for, and is entitled to the rest which he seeks. Though somewhat bent with age and hard service, his intellect retains the clearness and his spirits the fire of other days. He is an honor to the naval service and the nation. Vice Admiral Rowan was borne in Dublin, December 25, 1808, but was brought to this country when a child. He has been in the navy nearly sixty years. He married a Virginia lady, and was living in Norfolk when the cival war broke out. But he stood by the old flag and proved to be one of the bravest and most efficient of our naval commanders.

In Memory of an Excellent Young Man.

At a meeting of the Board of Commissioners of Centre county, held Wednesday, March 6, A. D. 1889, the following resolutions relating to the life, high character and sudden death of Wm. R. Mattern, Esq., clerk to the present Board of Commissioners, were submitted and adopted:

Resolved, That the Board of Commissioners have learned with sincere regret of the unexpected death of Wm. R. Mattern, Esq., of Unionville, Penn'a, who has served in the capacity of clerk to the present Board from January 1, 1888, to the time of his death, which occurred on the 3d inst.

That this Board cheerfully bears testimony to the faithfulness, industry, efficiency and gentlemanly, bearing with which the deceased met and discharged all the varied duties pertaining to his official position.

That we record with pleasure the fact that the people of Centre county who have had business relations with this office during the past year, and who came directly in contact with the deceased, testify to his devotion to the public interests committed to his charge and unite with his late associates in this expression of their sorrow and grief over his untimely death.

That so far as human sympathy can alleviate human sorrow we extend to his bereaved family our sincere condolence.

JOHN C. HENDERSON,
M. S. FIEDLER,
JOHN D. DECKER. } Commissioners.

Mr. Cole's Plan Selected.

On Wednesday evening, the Lutheran congregation decided to adopt, for their church building, the plan submitted by Mr. Robert Cole of this place. We are very glad that the congregation determined to honor our home architect in this way and we are sure that they will reap the benefit of it. It has all along been the opinion of the persons composing the congregation that the interior arrangements of Mr. Cole's plan were much superior to the others, and that is the principal point to be considered. It is also believed that it combines in the highest degree the points of economy and beauty for the money to be expended.

Mr. Cole has the advantage of being not only an architect, but also a practical mechanic. He can not only make the plans but can see that the work is scientifically and correctly done. A career of usefulness and prominence is before him.

The Nail Factory to Resume.

Work will again be resumed at the nail works on Monday next. The interruption of operations was only temporary and as there is a great demand for the product of the factory the resumption will take place even earlier than was anticipated.

Since the nail factory began active operations, several years ago, it has met with wonderful success. It has constantly increased in capacity and has only ceased work at intervals and then only in certain departments of the establishment, caused sometimes by one department accumulating material more rapidly than another could work it up and on one or two occasions by a misunderstanding in regard to the wages of employes. The present prospects are that it will enter upon a season of continuous and uninterrupted work, and consequently of prosperity.

Missionary Matters.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Presbytery of Huntingdon, was held on Thursday in Huntingdon. Mrs. N. D. Orbison, of this place, presided.

The total amount of money contributed to the cause aggregated $3,517. Three ladies from this presbytery are now in mission lands—Mrs. Butler, who went from Milroy many years ago to Ningpo, China; Miss Hays, from Mifflin, went to the Graham seminary, Tokio, Japan, and Miss Bird from Penfield to India.

Mrs. Orbison was re-elected President and Mrs. W. H. Wilson recording secretary.

—An imposing number of the resident of Reynolds avenue held a convention the other day and decided that hereafter it shall be called Clerks avenue Several strong addresses, pro and con were made and the decision was arrived at, after a careful estimate of the claims advanced in favor of the different names that the reasons in favor of Clerks Avenue were much stronger. If any one is opposed to this they should speak now or hereafter maintain a perpetual silence,

ONE CASE OF MEASLES REPORTED.

Lots of rain and plenty of mud.

Miss Sadie Leathers is visiting her sister at Shamokin.

Miss Lucy Barnhart has had a severe affliction with erysipelas.

Joe Dunkel's child is seriously ill with lung fever.

Mr. Yeager and family visited John Riley's, this week.

Mrs. Julia Bows, of Flemington, is visiting relatives here.

Rumors are floating around of a grand wedding to come off soon.

Mrs. Hicklin, of this place, attended the funeral, at Unionville, of the late Mr. Mattern.

A carcass of a deer that had been killed by dogs was found recently, on the Antis farm.

The B. E. V. R. R. is constructing a wire fence on both sides of its track.

One day last week Haupt Leather's team frightened at the cars and made it lively for him.

On March 1st, Peter Vanhorn received a light paralytic stroke, but is able to walk around. Thos. Burns is filling Mr. V's place on the R. R. Division.

Monday, March 4th, was Mrs. R. C. Leathers birthday. Her many friends surprised her when they called to tender their congratulations. They all had a pleasant time, although Mrs. L's illness deprived her of some of the pleasures of the occasion.

Three "Tips" from Mount Eagle.

MOUNT EAGLE, March 5, 1889.

Mr. G. D. Johnston has returned home from Sinnemahoning to look after his extensive farming interests.

A bright little stranger recently came to Jacob Maze's home. The arrival will be a "stranger" no longer however, as Mr. Maze has taken him in and is so much pleased that he cannot be coaxed away from home. The visitor is a bouncing baby boy.

Fishing has become quite general and interesting. The banks are lined with dip nets with a man or boy manipulating each of them. TIP.

Letter List.

List of unclaimed letters remaining in the postoffice at Bellefonte, Centre county, Penn'a, March 4, 1889:

Henry Alson, James Curry, David Cartwright, Charles A. Goes, Mrs. Clara Graham, Mrs. Ellie M. Gray, A. J. Miller, Miss Jennie McCracken, R. M. Mace, Miss Mary Seeders, Mrs. Anna M. Whiteman, C. E. Welland.

Persons inquiring for letters named in the above list will please say advertised.

JAS. H. DOMINS, P. M.

—The regret caused by the announcement that Dr. J. D. Geissinger is about to move from Bellefonte will be quite general. The Doctor is considered by all to be a most excellent and skillful dentist. He has all the qualifications which are calculated to give him the greatest proficiency in his profession. He was also in the enjoyment of a large patronage and the inducements to take him away from Bellefonte must be very great. He is a very pleasant gentleman socially and in military qualifications he has perhaps no superior, being a favorite as a commanding officer. We understand that he has an offer to go into business not connected with his profession, but with much larger opportunities than the dental practice will afford. He will leave Bellefonte about the middle of next week and wherever he may go he will be followed by the well-wishes of many friends.

Destructive Fire at Centre Hall.

At about 4 o'clock Friday morning fire started in the extensive new flouring mill of F. Kurtz & Son in Centre Hall. The mill was a large frame structure. Its arrangement was on the most modern plan and the equipment for producing the roller flour was very complete and superior. When the fire was discovered it had gained too much headway to fight it successfully and the appliances for combatting flames are not of the best description. The mill and all of its contents were destroyed, all that was saved being about thirty-five barrels of flour.

Connected with it was a grain house which was also burned with its entire contents. A dwelling house adjoining, also owned by the Messrs. Kurtz, suffered the same fate.

A grain house owned by Bartholomew & Co., likewise became a prey to the flames. It was filled with corn and oats and the loss was heavy with little or no insurance.

The loss of Kurtz & Son will probably reach about $20,000, to offset which was an insurance of only about $5,000. Mr. Fred Kurtz, the senior member of the firm, is also the editor and publisher of the Centre Reporter. The Messrs. Kurtz have our editorial and personal sympathy in their loss.

To the West via Pennsylvania Railroad.

In order to afford the residents of Central and Western Pennsylvania who intend to remove to Western States or territories the best facilities possible for reaching their new homes, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will run through passenger cars to St. Louis and Chicago every Tuesday until further notice. These cars will be attached to the train known as Fast Line, which runs on the following schedule: Leave Harrisburg 3.40, Duncannon 4.07, Newport 4.29, Mifflin 5.06, Lewistown Junction 5.28, Mt. Union 6.11, Huntingdon 6.30, Tyrone 7.10, Bellwood 7.30, Altoona 8.10, Johnstown 9.34, Latrobe 10.37, Greensburg 10.54 p. m. Baggage checked to destination. For detailed information consult the ticket agents at stations mentioned above, or address Thos. E. Watt, Passenger Agent Western District, 110 Fifth Avenue, Pittsburg.

—Most of the inaugural travelers came home on Thursday as then the time of the excursion expired.

VINEGAR BITTERS

NEW STYLE PLEASANT TASTE

The Most Perfect Medical Preparation of the Age.

The New Style Vinegar Bitters

Is of a clear, dark reddish amber color. It has a delicious taste. It is a most invigorating tonic. It is a gentle and painless, but thorough cathartic It contains no opium. It contains no poison or hurtful drug of any sort.

New Style Vinegar Bitters purifies the blood, beautifies the complexion, strengthens the nerves, muscles and brain, drives away malaria, and keeps the system so strong as to enable it to repel infectious diseases and epidemics generally.

The organs of the body most given to shirking their regular work are the stomach, bowels, liver and kidneys. A medicine that stimulates these organs into healthy action without causing pain, is invaluable?

New Style Vinegar Bitters does this and it does the work permanently. It never robs Peter to pay Paul, as alcoholic and other (so-called) remedies do. It is a most grateful, healing medicine to all who are troubled with piles, for it relieves at once, and soon cures this most painful disorder.

It aids digestion, cures constipation, headache, bilious complaints, feverishness, neuralgia, nervous diseases of every sort, and every class of skin disease known.

As a Family Medicine, for the use of ladies, children and men of sedentary habits, the New Style Vinegar Bitters has no equal in the world. It is invaluable for curing the ills that beset childhood, and gently regulates the diseases to which women at every period of life are subject.

Ladies, get a bottle from your druggist and try it. If your druggist has not the New Style Vinegar Bitters, ask him to send for it. If you once try it you will never be without this priceless remedy in the house.

Bellefonte Republican,

EDWARD T. TUTEN, - - Editor

Local Department.

—Come, gentle Spring; soft zephyrs bring
And sweetness round our pathway fling,
From out the bowers come spring-time flowers,
Bright as the sun 'tween April showers.
A Bellefonte girl her charms unfurls—
Blue eyes dancing behind banged curls;
A graceful head and perched upon it
A lovely $20 bonnet.

—Fish is plenty

—Hay is $13 per ton.

—Philipsburg is organizing a Y. M. C. A.

—Perhaps there will be an early Spring.

—Painters and paper hangers are in demand.

—A superabundance of big dogs in Bellefente.

—Soon it will be time to begin to make garden.

—President Harrison's appointments are excellent.

—Are you going to Lower California to search for gold?

—Services daily in the Episcopal church—at 10.30 a. m. and 5 p. m.

—Mr. Weaver, the local express man, expects to move to Lock Haven next week.

—The American ball players were entertained at dinner in London on Wednesday by Lord Londesborough.

—Quite elaborate changes and improvements are in progress to Dr. Hale's double house on Allegheny street.

—The days are now becoming quite long and in ten days from the present they will be as long as the nights.

—A Bellefonte man celebrated Washington's birthday by putting an egg under his hen and telling her to hatch-et.

—President Harrison attended the golden wedding of Admiral and Mrs. Porter in Washington on Monday night.

—The elements are now contending at a lively rate and we have no doubt that balmy spring will come out first best.

—Rev. Russell Conwell delivered his "Acres of Diamonds" lecture in Altoona last Thursday evening and won golden opinions.

—C. Boak advertises in the Republican this week a blacksmith and woodwork shop and tools for sale. Property located in Snow Shoe.

—At York and some other places in the State where the earthquake shocks were felt most severely people were greatly frightened.

—Instead of Mr. A. L. Miller, it has been arranged that Mr. G. Wash Rees shall lead the Y. M. C. A. meeting next Sunday afternoon.

—Three Ember days occur this week —Wednesday, Friday and Saturday. They are times of specially earnest prayer and rigorous fasting.

—Tyrone had what it is believed was an incendiary fire on Tuesday morning, the slaughter house owned by E. H. Levy being destroyed.

—Workmen are now employed on Curtin street in breaking up the stones on that thoroughfare preparatory to macadamizing the street.

—The subject of service in Y. M. C. A. hall next Sunday afternoon will be "The False and the True," Matthew 7:15—29. Leader, Mr. A. L. Miller.

—We hear from Hublersburg of the death of Mrs. John Dietrick, sister of John and ex-Commissioner David Dunkle. Her funeral occurred on Sunday.

—In the Methodist church at Philipsburg on Sunday morning, Rev. J. H. McGarrah preached a very strong sermon in favor of the Prohibition Amendment.

—Sunday, March 10, was the anniversary of the great snow storm and blizzard which blockaded the railroads for a week during March of last year. Hope there will be no repetition of it.

—George Freese, the foreman who was seriously burned by an explosion of powder in the squib factory at Plymouth, died Sunday afternoon. His daughter was a victim of this explosion, and with nine others were burned to death.

—On Saturday the mail agent on the Bald Eagle valley train forgot to leave the mail at this place, but carried it along to Snow Shoe Intersection, from whence the Snow Shoe train brought it to Bellefonte. This made the distribution of mail unusually late.

—The young gentlemen who attended the Y. M. C. A. district convention at Milton arrived home on Monday and we have had the pleasure of interviewing two of them. They report that the convention was in every sense a success and that their stay there was remarkably pleasant.

—On Tuesday morning occurred the funeral of the late Mr. John Hoy. The funeral services were held at his residence and the burial was in Union cemetery, this place. Rev. William Laurie, D. D., officiated, assisted by Revs. Sarvis and Crittenden. The following gentlemen acted as pall bearers: Messrs. Cam. Burnside, Shuman Lyons, William Graner, Henry Tibbens, Henry Taylor, and William R. Bartley.

THE WEATHER.

WRITTEN FOR THE DAILY NEWS BY "MATTHEW TWAIN."

There has never been a subject for the human mind to act upon that has been as much used and abused as the Weather topic.

The interest felt in it was created almost as soon as the weather itself and no matter how important the subject may be that we discuss it will pale into insignificance before this universal topic.

It seems as if the Almighty made the weather forthe purpose of aiding us to become acquainted with one another, for when we meet a friend or stranger the first remark is always about the day. This seems to prepare the way for more weighty considerations.

There is rarely if ever a time when two persons meet that some comment is not made upon the weather. It may be either too hot or too cold, too wet or too dry, fair or foul,yet it will be part of that conversation. Indeed it seems as if it is impossible to ignore it and the state of every day is remarked upon by one half the human race. The milkman,the butcher, the grocer and the landlord will each in his turn greet you with a remark upon the weather.

That day cannot come that will please all, be it ever so perfect, as there are persons whom the Almighty himself cannot please even with his brightest days. For it will have its clouds and rainfall to a certain portion of humanity.

Has it ever occurred to the reader how impossible it is to please the human family?

What will suit the one part is equally disagreeable to the other.

Let the day be ever so bright and pleasant to one,another will remark that it is the kind of weather to bring on the malaria.

When some one growls because it does not rain another complains because it does. And truly it is a subject of dissatisfaction to us simply because it is beyond our power to control it.

Let us suppose for a moment that the office of weather dispenser was an elective one to be filled by the people—how many of us would want the position and how many of us could keep it over night if we did have it?

Why, we would not have the concern two hours until we would displease two thirds of mankind.

Some good honest old farmer would ask for rain to fill his cistern, while such an arrangement would not please his nearest neighbor who would be going to the Granger Picnic. We would be impeached, suspended, and kicked out by a mob before we would have held the position twenty-four hours.

I doubt if that man lives in America to-day who would accept such a trust if it were tendered him by a unanimous vote of his fellow men.

However there is one thing about the weather that is worth remarking, that is its effect on business. All merchants will tell you that they look forward with dread to a dull rainy day because it not only keeps buyers away, but keeps those from buying who do come to the town.

There is something about a rainy, disagreeable day that causes a person to hold tight to a dollar if he has it, and long for the same if he has it not.

There is nothing that depresses the spirit of man or makes him feel his poverty so much as a disagreeable day. While on the other hand there is nothing that makes a poor miserable man forget himself and his debts as completely as sunshine. While a man's conscience will cause him to go one square out of his way to get around one of his creditors when it storms, yet his cheek will allow him to beg a chew of tobacco from the Sheriff when the sun is shining.

Some men will tell you they love the summer evenings when they can sit around in their shirt sleeves, while another individual will tell you he prefers the winter evenings and the warm fire even when he owes for the coal that made the fire warm last winter.

A certain celebrated lawyer once said it required two drinks of whiskey to make him appreciate a bad day.

This might answer in his case, but all of us are not lawyers and whiskey might not have the same effect on all.

One thing certain, a man will hold tighter to a nickel when it rains than he will to a dollar when the sky is clear.

Many a man has committed suicide on a dark dreary day that would have lived to be happy had he put off the job until the next morning.

The most pitiable object on the face of the earth (an editor excepted) is that man who goes to the post office on a bleak, cold, dreary afternoon and finds awaiting him there a gentle reminder from his landlord, a mild request from his tailor and numerous others of a similar nature from the smaller fry of tradesman. Behold him as he tears open one after another, his eyes growing larger at every fresh tear, and his one nickel becoming smaller. See him as he starts on the homeward road, with an order from his wife to bring shad, ice cream and bananas for supper.

He grasps his umbrella in one hand, his nickel in the other, and starts up a side street to a one horse grocery where he buys ½ pound of breakfast bacon. He dare not ask for the shad and as to the ice cream and fruit they are a thing of the future.

To morrow's sun beholds that same individual ordering the shad, with the look of an Astor or a Vanderbilt on his countenance.

The duns are ashes and the sun shines again.

However, every dark day has a bright one following in its wake, both kinds are bound to come. They are meant for our good. The merchant may be the loser to-day but he will be the gainer to-morrow and so it goes. If we had no clouds we would not appreciate the sunshine.

The Pennsylvania Troops Conducted Themselves Properly while in Washington.

A special to the Philadelphia Press, from Harrisburg, says:

General Hastings was very much annoyed by the reports sent out from Washington yesterday that some of the Pennsylvania militiamen had been acting in a riotous manner. "I did not hear a complaint against a single member of the guard," said he to-day. "I did, however, hear words of praise on all sides. The report that citizens appealed to me for protection from members of our troops and that I ordered Colonel Hawkins, of the 10th, to quell any disturbance, is without foundation. I had no communication with Colonel Hawkins. The newspapers gave me the first notice I had of any disturbance. I had a conversation with Colonel Moore, chief of police, before I left Washington and he did not lodge a complaint against our troops.

"Their conduct in Washington was simply admirable. They deserved praise. I did not see or hear of an intoxicated Pennsylvania Guardsman. I heard several military men who are authority say that, while there were other military uniformed bodies in the parade, none was so large, compact, so much of a complete military unit as the Pennsylvania Division. The seventh New York has a fine dress uniform and marched admirably, but I can name at least five of our regiments that marched just as well in the great parade.

"Give our division a dress uniform, and on occasions of ceremony it will not, as a division, fall behind any of the socalled crack regiments that I have seen. The entire division, including batteries, horses and cavalry mounted, was put into Washington inside of twenty-four hours. The railroad authorities who carried the troops to and from Washington, owing to the rush of travel, disembarked some of the regiments outside the city near Bennings, but the men marched through the mud and rain uncomplainingly for over three miles going and returning."

Expects to go Elsewhere.

The Methodist ministers can now remain in one place five years. Rev. D. S. Monroe, D. D., has been here three years. That was the former limit of a minister's stay in one place. He however believes that three years is long enough and we are informed that he does not expect to remain any longer in Bellefonte, though of course he will go or stay, as the Bishop directs him. We hope that the Doctor will remain here. He is a valuable man to have in any community. As a minister or citizen he is the peer of any whom we have ever met. He has had an extensive and useful experience, is possessed of a wonderful fund of knowledge and is a clear and logical thinker and a forcible speaker. The Methodists of Bellefonte have been peculiarly fortunate in their pastors, but Dr. Monroe, in our opinion, stands head and shoulders above any that have ever occupied that pulpit, not excepting Rev. George W. Miller, who has since ministered to the most prominent Methodist congregations in the country.

A glance at Rev. Dr. Monroe shows that he is a man of great force of character and mental power. Into whatever community he may go he will at once take rank as the foremost citizen, because of his mental force, extensive attainments and the tact and discretion with which he participates in the local affairs. Whatever church he ministers to must succeed because of his pulpit power, executive ability and Christian zeal.

We say again that we hope he will remain because his departure will be a loss to the town and to the M. E. congregation here; but whether he goes or stays he will continue to be a power in the church and community.

Information Wanted.

of the whereabouts of John Thompson, who came from Derbyshire, England, in the year 1860 or '61. He went into the service of the United States as cook or waiter for some army officer. His friends think he went from the Oil regions of Pennsylvania. He had but one arm. Any information concerning Mr. Thompson, dead or alive, will be thankfully received by William Jones, of Bellefonte, Centre county, Pa., Quarter-Master of Gregg Post, No. 95, G. A. R., Dept of Penna.

Papers in the oil regions will please copy.

—The funeral of the late Mr. William P. Harris occured at Lamar on Monday, many Bellefonte friends being in attendance. The services were deeply affecting and the officiating minister was Rev Mr. Divens, of Salona. The pall bearers B. F. Shaffer, Robert Tate, J. B. Crawford, Ira C. Ohl, Robert Long and James Mayes.

STATE COLLEGE EXPENDITURES.

The Various Uses Made of the $112,000 Appropriated by the Legislature.

Special State College Correspondence of Philadelphia Press.

In accordance with the provisions of the act of the Legislature, approved June 3, 1887, appropriating the sum of $112,000 to the Pennsylvania State College, the following expenditures have been made: About $18,000 have been expended on the main college building. The old narrow, steep and dark staircases have been torn out and replaced by open and airy stairways constructed by oiled ash and lighted at each landing from the first to fifth floor by new and larger windows, cut through the heavy stone wall of the building. The corridors have also been greatly enlarged. Two stories of the centre wing have been converted into a chapel, which, with its gallery, will accomodate 600 people, and is provided with opera chairs and an ample stage. In addition to these improvements the building has been furnished with electric light.

About $8000 have been expended for for machinery in the mechanic arts department and the electric plant situated in the mechanic arts buildings.

Some $19,000 were consumed in erecting the new armory and assembly hall, which is built of brick with Ohio stone trimmings, of the dimensions of 80 by 140 feet, and contains commandant's office, reception rooms and toilette room, the drill room being 80 by 110 feet, covered with an iron truss roof.

About $8000 have been expended upon the Botanical Laboratory. This building is built of limestone and brick and contains class rooms and museums, with a conservatory and green house attached to it. Its design is to give a practical knowledge of that branch of biology pertaining to plant life. The building for the chemical and physical laboratories is much the largest of the new structure, and presents an imposing appearance. The first story is built of limestone, the balance of brick and Ohio stone. It is three stories high, covering ground to the extent of 101 by 145 feet. It is designed after the Sheffield School of Science at Yale College, and is intended to be one of the most complete schools of chemistry in the country. The cost of this building was about $30.000.

Two residences, one of the director of the Experiment Station and the other for the United States military instructor, have been built. They are on the Queen Anne style, costing about $8000: $12,000 are being spent on experiments conducted at the station.

The balance of the appropriation is being expended on specified objects. The state has taken a step towards placing this institution upon a footing equal to that of similar institutions of other states; for example, Alabama has given $238,111 to her state college; Iowa, $400,000; Massachusetts, $222,500; Maine, $437,239.

Capt. Austin Curtin Going to Huntingdon.

Within the next ten days Capt. Austin Curtin and wife will go to Huntingdon, where the Captain will enter upon his duties at the State Reformatory. He does not expect to take all his household furniture with him to Huntingdon, but will leave most of it at his home at Roland.

The Captain will really fill two positions in the Reformatory, being the officer next in grade to the Superintendent. He will receive all persons who are admitted to the institution, examine their papers and see that they are directed to the proper department of the institution. It is a position connected with which there is a great deal of labor.

The Reformatory will be conducted partly on the same plan as the one near Elmira, which has accomplished wonders in the way of reforming those who have been inmates of it. The admissions are only of persons from 15 to 25 years of age and then only for the first offense. They will not be consigned to the institution for any stated length of time, but the managers shall be the judges of when sufficient reform has taken place. The inmates are taught such things as shall fit them to be useful members of the community—the useful branches of learning and also industrial education.

The statistics show that while only 60 per cent of the inmates of penitentiaries afterwards conduct themselves in a way that makes them good citizens and enables them to keep out of prison, fully 95 per cent of the inmates of the Reformatories have completely reformed.

Captain Curtin is the right person to conduct this sort of an institution, and in it his soldierly qualities will be of much use to him. His high Christian character will also be an additional qualification in his favor. We shall expect the Huntingdon Reformatory to take its place in the line of usefulness along with that near Elmira, New York.

A Case which Appeals for Sympathy.

During the past eight months the wife of Mr. Thomas Moffit, blacksmith at the nail works and living at Milesburg, has been afflicted with tumor. He has exhausted every local means of remedy and desires to take his wife to the city where the most skillful treatment may be obtained. But his means are inadequate to meet the large expense which it would require. Perhaps it is only necessary to make this fact public to secure for him from some generously disposed persons the practical sympathy which will enable him to do as he so earnestly desires.

Personal Pencilings.

S. S. Lyon, Esq., of this place, is now in Pittsburg.

Mr. Sternberg had a six pound shad among his stock on Friday.

Mr. Grant Logan, of Curwensville, spent Thursday, in Bellefonte.

Mr. James Rawlins, of Lewistown, is visiting, relatives in this place.

Mr. and Mrs Robert Valentine returned on Tuesday evening from Baltimore.

Mr. John A. Daley and Mr. McCloskey, of Curtin township, spent Saturday in Bellefonte.

Mrs. Tate, the wife of our townsman, Col. D. K. Tate, is visiting friends in Johnstown, Pa.

Miss Jennie Schell, of Tyrone, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ceaders, of this place

Mrs. Mullen, of Clearfield, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Benner Graham, of this place.

Miss Rachael Scanlon, of Bellefonte, is visiting her sister, Mrs. F. P. Barron, of Nineteenth street, says the Times of that city.

Mr. Frank Yeely, formerly of Harris, drug store and for several years living in Philadelphia, spent Thursday in town.

Miss Mary McClain, daughter of Mr. James McClain after suffering several weeks with a sprained ankle, is rapidly recovering.

Mr. E. G. VanPelt, of Centre Hall, is rejoicing over the fact that he has received a patent for his recent invention of a planter.

Miss Nellie Kline, of Bellefonte, is a welcome visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. C. Brew, says the Tyrone Daily Herald.

Mr. A. L. Miller, stenographer for the Collins Brothers, was licensed to preach by the M. E. District Conference which met in Tyrone on Wednesday.

Mrs. Chas. T. Cook came home Thursday from her visit in Maryland, Miss Carrie Rankin, who spent all the past winter in Maryland, accompanied Mrs Cook.

Mr. U. H. Remer, a conductor on the Bellefonte, Nittany & Lemont railroad, recently moved to this place from Northumberland and is residing on Thomas street.

Mr. Boyd A. Musser, after spending several days at State College, filling the position temporarily vacated by his brother, returned to town Thursday morning.

General Hastings arrived home on Saturday afternoon and spent Sunday at his home here. He still walks lame from the effect of the injury he received in Washington.

Gen. James Milliken arrived at 5 p. m. on Thursday and Judge Jno. H. Orvis departed at the same time. As the two gentlemen met at the depot they greeted one another with a cordial hand shake.

On Friday at 2.30 o'clock Messrs. Washington Rees, George Cane and R. A. Roan departed for Milton. Saturday Messrs. L. A. Miller and Francis Spear journeyed in the same direction. They will all return on Monday.

The agreeable Miss Arnold, of Williamsport, en route home from a visit in the West, tarried in Bellefonte on Friday, spending the day with her friend, Mrs. Jacob Heylmun, on Curtin street. She went to Williamsport last week.

Mrs. Mitchell I. Gardner, of Howard, presided with her well known grace and tact in one of the schools in the stone building on Friday. Mrs. Gardner, when Miss Clara Strickland, was one of the very best of the teachers.

Commodore Miles Kephart, of Unionville, comes to town almost every day. When he made his appearance Friday morning he was gaily and strikingly attired in a new and elegant Spring suit. The blue birds, robins and Spring flowers will soon be along.

Mr. Henry Evey, of Pittsburg, has been visiting her relatives in this vicinity, and was in Bellefonte on Friday, Though formerly a citizen of Lemont,he has been in Pittsburg for two years past. He expects to take a trip to Washington Territory in the near future.

Mr. James Campbell, President of the Window Glass Workers Association, was in Bellefonte on Wednesday. While here he offered to secure situations for all the men connected with the glass factory, who desire such employment. Of course if there is no prospect for the reopening of the factory they will take advantage of this opportunity.

On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Thomas and their baby boy departed for their home in New York. They arrived several days ago, but Mr. Thomas was necessarily absent during the inaugural because his presence was absolutely necessary at that time. Being the superintendent of locomotives between Philadelphia and New York, he had hundreds of locomotives to watch during that time when the utmost capacity of the road was tested. He returned in time to go with his wife and child to their home in New York on Friday.

We noticed Mr. Benjamin Schroyer in Bellefonte the early part of this week.

The popular Mrs. George Brew, of Ridgway, is still visiting her relatives here

Mr. C. U. Hoffer is now keeping books for the flouring mill firm of Gerberich, Hale & Co.

Mr. Henry G. Campbell, of Rock Springs, transacted business in Bellefonte on Tuesday.

Death of the Venerable John Hoy.

On Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m. Mr. John Hoy passed away at his residence near this place. He had been declining in physical health and strength for a long time and all who have seen him recently might have noticed that he was becoming quite feeble.

Deceased was the father of Dr. H. K. Hoy. He also had several other children who have reached the age of maturity, and are filling prominent positions of trust.

Deceased was a life long resident of this county. He was a man of great force of character, indefatigable earnestness of purpose and much mental and physical activity. He was known by almost everyone in the county and has numerous relatives in this vicinity.

ABOUT THE DECEASED.

John Hoy was born in this county, two miles east of Madisonburg. His age was 73 years, 1 month and 2 days. The immediate cause of death was erysipelas, though, as we state above, he had been failing rapidly in general health. Two of the sons of deceased are doctors, one of them now practicing in Los Angeles, California. Two of his daughters are teachers. Those who knew the deceased best are very earnest in their praise of him as a man of the highest honor and strictest integrity.

—There seems to be some concern in the minds of many persons in this community regarding the fate of H U Tibbens, the young man who was tried for murder by the mock court last week. The concern is all because the verdict of the jury was not announced in this paper. What we report is indeed a happy termination of the long and distressing trial. The young man against whom the awful charge of murder was brought was carefully and faithfully tried by a jury of what the law terms as his peers. As usual, Mr. Francis Speer was the prosecuting attorney. He seems to feel a peculiar pleasure in persecuting innocent people. A L Miller, Esq., the prisoner's counsel, labored to free his client without hope of other reward than that of a commending conscience Judge John Blanchard extricated the counsel from the legal ruts into which they occasionally floundered and his expositions of law were as luminous as a thousand candle power electric light. The jury's verdict was such as to occasion exquisite joy to the prisoner and he has ever since been receiving the congratulations of his friends. The verdict was quite elaborate. But it acquitted Tibbens of any serious offense. They found him guilty of cutting off part of the moustache of the individual for whose murder he was indicted, but further than that deponent saith not.

—A correspondent of this paper from Curtin township, wrote last week that a canvass of the township had been taken and only about one third of the voters would vote for the Prohibition amendment. When this statement was read by Messrs. Daley and McCloskey, citizens of that township, they were surprised. They tell us they know of no canvass having been made and say that they will pledge the township to give a majority for the Amendment. They believe it will be almost unanimous.
